Truman Quiz Plans Up In Air

Ex-President Won't Say If He'll Appear

Reportedly Informs Friend He'll Answer Congress Subpoena

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—A visitor reported today that Harry S. Truman remarked in a light vein that he'll answer his historic subpoena from the House Un-American Activities Committee.

"They better be there on time because I will," the former President was quoted by Harry Hershfield, a humorist.

However, Truman kept mum on whether he'll submit to congressional questions about the Harry Dexter White case. So far as records show, the summons for Friday is the first of its kind ever served on an ex-President of the United States.

Refers To "Snollygosters"

At one point during a leisurely day, Truman made an apparent reference to his Republican critics as "snollygosters"—which he defined as men "born out of wedlock."

Hershfield said he and Truman exchanged banter about the subpoena when he visited the former President's hotel suite. Truman's remark that he'll be there on time was tossed off lightly, Hershfield emphasized.

The humorist said Truman received "over 1,000 telegrams urging him to go down there and fight."

In the light of Hershfield's statement, reporters asked Truman's press aide, Matthew Connelly, if it could be assumed the ex-President really intends to go to Washington Friday in answer to the subpoena.

Listens To Questions

"I'm afraid there will still be no comment on that," Connelly replied.

Earlier, Truman listened to a barrage of questions from newsmen as to whether he'll appear before the House investigators. He told the reporters:

"I'm not in a position to answer now. You'll know in due time."

Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr., charged in a speech last week that Truman as President promoted the late Treasury aide, White, despite two FBI reports that he was a Russianspy.

U. N. Assembly Votes Atrocity Debate

Pennsy Commuter Car Impaled On Bridge Divider

A Pennsylvania Railroad passenger coach is virtually impaled on a bridge dividing wall east of Philadelphia's 30th Street station after the morning commuter train left the tracks yesterday. Two cars were badly damaged and 36 passengers were injured. Philadelphia police began an immediate investigation to learn the cause of the derailment.

Red Objections Are Overridden By 53 To 5 Vote

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. Nov. 11 (AP)—The U.N. Assembly overrode Russian objections today and called for a thorough discussion of American charges that the Reds tortured and killed thousands of soldiers in "inhuman warefare" in Korea.

The delegates voted 53-5 for the formal debate in the full Assembly, but did not set a date. Only the Soviet bloc voted against the debate. India and Guatemala abstained. The Indian delegate, V. K. Krishna Menon, said he would not take part in the discussion or vote or any resolution put up by any side on atrocities. He said India is concerned in Korea now as chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

Lodge Raps Vishinsky

U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. urged the Assembly to hear the American case. He later arose and shouted that Russia's Andrei Vishinsky was going too far in a heated speech of opposition.

The Assembly president, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, twice tried to halt Vishinsky, but he roared on despite her oral spankings.

He charged the Americans put up the atrocity charges in an attempt to torpedo the Korean peace conference. He said the Americans actually were the culprits because they bombed and killed "innocent women and children" and even some prisoners of war. At the end, he said Lodge had not made a case for Assembly action and he (Vishinsky) opposed consideration of the charges in any organization of the U.N.

Debate Shut Off

Lodge tried to answer Vishinsky, but Mrs. Pandit said he could speak fully when the debate began. She said he had made his case.

The atrocities case arose late last month when the U. S. Army charged that Communist Chinese and North Koreans tortured and killed thousands of American and other U.N. soldiers during the Korean War. There were instant demands from congressional leaders for U.N. action and Lodge filed the charges here.

Loyalty Of Man He Succeeded Backed By Ike

Chairman Velde Will Consult House Probe Group On Next Move

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—The rush of some Republican legislators to grill Harry S. Truman about the Harry Dexter White case slowed down tonight after President Eisenhower backed Truman's patriotism and said he personally would not have slapped a subpoena on the ex-President.

There were signs, in fact, that Truman might not be questioned this Friday, as scheduled, if at all.

He had been subpoenaed for Friday in connection with Atty Gen. Brownell's charges that the former President promoted White in 1946 from assistant Treasury secretary to U. S. director of the International Monetary Fund despite FBI reports that White was a Soviet spy.

Eisenhower told a news conference today it was inconceivable that a man in Truman's position would knowingly damage the United States.

Brownell's Responsibility

The President handed to Brownell the responsibility for bulwarking his charges with essential evidence. He wouldn't be a party, he said, to anything smacking of rank injustice to anyone.

At the same time he said he had found his attorney general interested in decency and justice and in cleaning up what he has got to clean up. Brownell, Eisenhower said, will be left to handle the White case in his own way.

The attorney general got out a statement saying there is no intent to impugn the loyalty of any high official of the Truman administration. But he said a new memo found at the State Department seems to place it beyond question that there was laxity in dealing with Communist infiltration of government.

He said the memo from then Secretary of State Byrnes to President Truman shows White's "espionage activities" came to the attention of the White House and other U. S. agencies in advance of White's promotion. Along with the memo, Brownell said, went a copy of an FBI report the attorney general contends identified White as a spy.

Truman Is Silent

In New York, Truman wasn't saying yes or no as to whether he would obey the summons from the House Un-American Activities Committee to show up Friday for a hearing.

In the midst of all the storm over the White case and a rash of statements from the White House, Justice Department and members of Congress, there were indications any hearings starring Truman might be put off to an indefinite future.

The chairman of the House committee, Rep. Velde (R-Ill) left the whole thing dangling in air. He said he would call a committee meeting as soon as absent members reach town. But it was uncertain just when that would be.

Three Democrats on his committee said they had been informed there would be no hearings this week, at least, and a Republican member told newsmen they would be justified in concluding there would be none right away.

Californian Ends String Of Seven Demo Victories

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11 (AP)—The series of Democratic victories in odd-year congressional elections has been stopped by a fighting Californian who asked for support of Eisenhower policies.

Glenard P. Lipscomb, 38, a public accountant and state legislator, yesterday won the nation's final congressional district election of 1953.

The handsome and personable Lipscomb had the backing of the Republican party organization. In outdistancing three opponents in the 24th District special election he commented:

Ike Confidence Vote?

"The people are desirous of continuing the administration's accomplishments of the past 10 months."

He said the vote for him was a vote of confidence in the Eisenhower administration and an endorsement of the record of the 83rd Congress.

Lipscomb broke a string of seven Democratic victories in Congressional district elections since last November's regular elections, including the recent upsets in Wisconsin and New Jersey.

He prevented the Democrats from making a further cut in the slim Republican majority in the House of Representatives. With the Lipscomb victory the GOP now holds 219 House seats and the Democrats 215. The remaining seat is held by an Independent.

Wins Majority Of Votes

In the congressional district in Los Angeles County Lipscomb got more votes than the total of his three opponents. Complete semi-official returns from the 221 precincts gave Lipscomb 42,880 votes. His principal opponent was George L. Arnold, a Democrat, who had the strong backing of Democratic organizations and several labor groups. Arnold's vote totaled 34,545.

Truman Owes Public Facts, Knowland Says

BALTIMORE, Nov. 11 (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said tonight the Harry Dexter White case "has gone beyond the point where the personal desires of anyone in or out of office should be allowed to curtail or obstruct the securing of all the facts."

The Republican majority leader in the Senate made his point in an address to 800 Maryland Republicans at a $50-a-plate fund raising dinner.

He declined afterward to discuss the propriety of serving subpoenas on Former President Truman and Supreme Court Justice Clark.

"It is not a partisan issue," he said in his speech in referring to the White case.

"Former President Truman, Justice Clark and all others concerned in events bearing upon the entrance or exit of White as a high official owe it to the public, to history, and to themselves to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth.

He declared in his address:

"The life of the Republic may at some future time hinge on finding forthright answers" to these questions:

1. Was White implicated in Soviet espionage and did the FBI so inform responsible officials in the executive branch of the government?

2. Was such information sent to the White House in advance of White's appointment to high position?

3. Who recommended White to the President or secretary of the treasury?

4. Is there a pattern, tracing back to an individual or a group, of seeking to place espionage agents in key positions?

5. Was the FBI file on White which was given to Vaughn (Truman's aide) passed on by Vaughn to the President or someone else; and if to someone else, then to whom?

6. If President Truman did not get the information, who intercepted it?

7. If the information which resulted in White's leaving the government did not come from the FBI, then on whom was President Truman relying?

8. Why was the commendatory letter written to White when he left the government?

Mossadegh Says Tribunal Lacks Right To Try Him

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 11 (AP) — Mohammed Mossadegh declared today an army court has no right to try him, because as premier, he decreed the dissolution of army courts to "improve Iran's judicial law."

With a Puckish grin, the aged Nationalist leader warned the five-man tribunal headed by Gen. Nasrollah Moghbeli:

"I issued more than 200 judicial decrees. If you want to disregard this one, you must disregard all the rest."

The decrees were issued, he said, under a mandate from the Majlis, the lower House of Parliament.

Accused Of Dissolving Majlis

Illegal dissolution of the Majlis is one of the charges against Mossadegh, the emotional old Nationalist leader deposed in the Aug. 19 royalist revolt. He is also accused of defying Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi and trying to overthrow the monarchy.

The hearing opened Sunday in the heavily guarded Hall of Mirrors, is to determine whether the military tribunal is competent to try him.

Mossadegh appeared to have patched up his differences with his court-appointed lawyer, Col. Jalil Bozorgmehr, whom he punched, insulted and disavowed yesterday. They sat shoulder to shoulder and the ex-dictator leaned over several times to whisper to the lawyer.

Sections Of Decrees Read

Under the court's instruction, Bozorgmehr read sections of decrees and paragraphs of law supporting Mossadegh's claims.

"Under my decree dissolving the army courts, thousands of cases have been sent to the Justice Ministry. These would have to be tried by army courts. Thus my decree has already been implemented several thousand times."

Election Pleases Ike, White Affair Queries Irk Him

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower, pleased at the California election result but nettled by persistent questioning about the Harry Truman-Harry Dexter White affair, held one of his most dramatic news conferences today.

Eisenhower looked grave and perhaps a little strained, in contrast to his usual bouncy manner, when he met with 175 newsmen who—as he well knew from a staff briefing beforehand—were bursting with questions about the White case.

Notes Armistice Day

And about that case the President volunteered no comments.

He began his news conference by noting today was Armistice Day—a day that always has meant a lot to Americans. He said—and he asked correspondents to mention this in their stories.

Then the President called attention to a Navy report saying race segregation has been virtually abolished at all installations in the South. "Most encouraging," he called this, in a prepared statement.

He said, too, the election in the Philippines seems to have been a fair one—and that's encouraging, he said, for the democracies.

As for the Republican victory in yesterday's California Congressional election, Eisenhower said he was pleased—adding with a grin that he had to qualify his pleasure somewhat last week, in the wake of GOP setbacks in New Jersey and elsewhere. The President joined in the rumble of laughter from newsmen.

Bombarded With Questions

Then he invited questions. And they bombarded him from all sides.

Eisenhower answered slowly, with evident caution, for the most part—though he sometimes spoke out with emphasis and his one-word negative was delivered almost explosively when a newsman asked, with reference to the White case, if he thought Truman ever knowingly appointed a spy to high office.

Lab Is Designed To Give Lowdown On Flying Saucers

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (AP)—Canada's Transport Department is building the world's first laboratory designed to prove or disprove the existence of flying saucers.

W. B. Smith, engineer in charge of the broadcast and measurement section of the department, said today the laboratory or sighting station is under construction at Shirley's Bay, 10 miles northwest of Ottawa, and should be in operation in a few days.

Smith said the station is designed to detect gamma rays, magnetic fluctuations, radio noises and gravity or mass changes in the atmosphere.

The engineer said if there are any interplanetary flying saucers, "they must work on some technology which has something in common with our own basic physics. If that is so, our equipment will be able to detect them."

Woman Is Freed In Abortion Death

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Nov. 11 (AP)—A 32-year-old Cambridge woman on trial for manslaughter in the death of another woman fainted today when the jury brought in a verdict of innocent.

The defendant, blonde Mrs. Sarah Willey, was quickly revived.

The jury of seven men and five women deliberated about 50 minutes before announcing the verdict of acquittal for Mrs. Willey, who had been accused in the death of Miss Thelma Pryor, 26-year-old secretary to a law firm at La-Plata.

Charges also had been brought against three men. The state said it planned not to prosecute in one case but would leave two others on the books.

Mrs. Willey had taken the stand yesterday to deny contentions by the state she had attempted an illegal operation on Miss Pryor at the Willey apartment in Cambridge.

Mrs. Willey testified she "didn't do anything to the girl, and I didn't attempt to."

Manslaughter charges also had been brought against Elva Fletcher, of Laurel, Del., companion of Miss Pryor, who said he probably was father of her unborn child, and Howard Hubbard, who lives at the Willey home. Hubbard and a taxi driver, Monroe Jones, also had been charged with conspiracy.

Today after the verdict in the Willey case, State's Attorney Calvin Brinsfield said he would not prosecute the manslaughter charge against Fletcher but was letting stand the charges against Jones and Hubbard.

Wall Falls, Kills Two Workmen

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 11 (AP)—A foot-thick wall swayed a slight warning today and then quickly tumbled on six workmen who were buried in a 15-ton avalanche of masonry.

Two Negro men died in the brick and concrete grave, but four others escaped critical injury because the fallen beams shielded them.

It took 15 minutes to bring the four injured from the debris, but 30 shovel-swinging firemen with axes and electric saws sweated for an hour and five minutes before extricating the first victim, Weston Brown of Richmond.

Three hours and 10 minutes later, they pulled the second victim, Lee Byers, also of Richmond, from rubble six feet deep.

The workmen were dismantling a downtown Richmond building when a 20x15 section of the brick wall collapsed. The falling masonry knocked the six men 18 feet into the bottom of the structure.

Moscow's Reaction

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Moscow radio declared tonight the United States had established a new "record of stupidity and political cynicism" by subpoenaeing former President Truman.

POW Interview Program Stalled

PANMUNJOM, Thursday, Nov. 12 (AP)—The paralyzed Red program of explanations to prisoners of the Korean War hung fire today for the seventh straight day while the Communist high command pondered the next step.

Meanwhile, diplomatic staff advisers worked in secret in their efforts to find common ground for planning a Korean peace conference. U. S. envoy Arthur H. Dean and Chinese and Red Korean foreign ministry councilors are deadlocked over Communist insistence on inviting Asian neutrals to the peace talks.

In the prisoner impasse, Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India, chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, was expected to return to Kaesong tonight or tomorrow to hear the Red answer to his suggestion for reopening the stalled prisoner interviews.

Thimayya has proposed a speeded-up program and indicated the Indians would take over the POW screening if the Reds did not agree.

36 Passengers Hurt In PRR Train Wreck

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11 (AP)—A Pennsylvania Railroad commuter train, only partly filled because of Armistice Day holiday, jumped the rails as it moved slowly across a Schuylkill River bridge today injuring 36 passengers.

The first car of the eight car Chestnut Hill local was cut almost in half, by a heavy steel girder. The car's bottom was ripped out and passengers spilled out onto the tracks. Only the bridge wall kept the cars from tipping into the river.

A second car, also derailed, was dragged forward, churning up stones and ties for 30 feet.

The wreck occured during the PRR's morning rush of commuting traffic into Central Philadelphia. PRR engineers and city police began an immediate probe to learn the cause.

Commons Approves Regency Transfer

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—A measure to transfer Princess Margaret's regency rights to the Duke of Edinburgh was approved by the House of Commons without opposition on second reading today. Final passage comes on the third reading, a formality.

The measure is a proposed amendment to the regency act of 1937. Under its provisions the husband of Queen Elizabeth II and not her sister would become acting monarch in case the Queen dies before her son, Prince Charles, is 18. Charles will be five Saturday.

World War I Dead Honored In Traditional Ceremonies

By The Associated Press

In simple and traditional ceremonies honoring the dead of World War I, Americans marked another Armistice Day yesterday.

President Eisenhower silently placed a wreath of large, yellow chrysanthemums at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery.

The principal address there was delivered by Secretary of the Army Stevens, who said there can be no real peace in the world unless it is accompanied by security, integrity and liberty.

Another speaker at Arlington, Arthur J. Connell of Middletown, Conn., national commander of the American Legion, proclaimed that peace can be won by an America "united in determination and devotion to it."

In Europe, only France held public ceremonies. Speaking at Compeigne, Premier Joseph Laniel urged Frenchmen to demonstrate that while the country lacked political stability there is firmness "in the continuity of the national ideal." France lost 1,357,000 men in World War I. Compeigne is where the armistice was signed with imperial Germany.

American forces stationed abroad took an official holiday.

Religious services in churches all over the country marked the day, and at 11 a.m. there was the traditional minute of reverent silence.

At a news conference preceding the Arlington ceremony, Eisenhower said Armistice Day has always meant a lot to Americans. As a favor, he asked all of the 175 reporters present to mention in their stories that it was Armistice Day and to explain what Armistice Day really meant to the country at one time.

First "Definite" Isolation Of Polio Virus Announced

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 11 (AP)—First "definite" isolation and identification of human infantile paralysis virus was announced today by a University of California scientist who said the development "is expected to speed up the fight against polio."

Dr. Wendell Stanley said the development paves the way for chemical analysis of the structure of the germ, and thereby might conceivably lead to improved polio vaccines and possibly even to the ultimate development of a chemical weapon to treat the disease. The research is supported by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Stanley said two of his colleagues at the University's virus laboratory at Berkeley have obtained "the first photographs definitely identifying the human polio virus" and have established with certainty that it is a spherically-shaped germ about a millionth of an inch in diameter.

He added that the scientists were the first to distinguish—with experimental certainty—between virus particles and impurities accompanying them in preparations known to contain polio germs.

Stanley made the announcement at the autumn meeting of the National Academy of Sciences and amplified on the technical details in an interview.

He told the scientists that virus of "unusual purity" has been isolated—in small quantities so far—by means of special purification techniques. And he told a reporter:

"The new knowledge is expected to speed up the fight against polio, primarily by providing more definite facts about the virus."

Philippines Has New Political Star

MANILA, Thursday, Nov 12 (AP)—Ramon Magsaysay today appeared to have vaulted the tremendous gap from an unknown young guerrilla fighter against the Japanese 10 years ago to president of The Philippines' 20 million people.

In so doing, he ousted ailing President Elpidio Quirino; delivered a crippling blow to the dominant Liberal party which he quit eight months ago; and carried his Nacionalista party to new heights of power.

The Philippines had a new political star.

As election returns at the halfway mark carried Magsaysay into almost a 3-1 lead, the Liberal party chief, House Speaker Eugenio Perez, said Magsaysay could win by an unprecedented total.

Perez added, however, that he was not ready to concede.

Quirino in his gloom-shrouded Malacanan Palace had nothing to say publicly as he received the adverse reports from his provincial lieutenants.

Mossadegh Says Tribunal Lacks Right To Try Him

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 11 (AP)—Mohammed Mossadegh declared today an army court has no right to try him, because as premier, he decreed the dissolution of army courts to "improve Iran's judicial law."

With a Puckish grin, the aged Nationalist leader warned the five-man tribunal headed by Gen. Nasrollah Moghbeli:

"I issued more than 200 judicial decrees. If you want to disregard this one, you must disregard all the rest."

The decrees were issued, he said, under a mandate from the Majlis, the lower House of Parliament.

Accused Of Dissolving Majlis

Illegal dissolution of the Majlis is one of the charges against Mossadegh, the emotional old Nationalist leader deposed in the Aug. 19 royalist revolt. He is also accused of defying Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi and trying to overthrow the monarchy.

The hearing opened Sunday in the heavily guarded Hall of Mirrors, is to determine whether the military tribunal is competent to try him.

Mossadegh appeared to have patched up his differences with his court-appointed lawyer, Col. Jalil Bozorgmehr, whom he punched, insulted and disavowed yesterday. They sat shoulder to shoulder and the ex-dictator leaned over several times to whisper to the lawyer.

Sections Of Decrees Read

Under the court's instruction, Bozorgmehr read sections of decrees and paragraphs of law supporting Mossadegh's claims.

"Under my decree dissolving the army courts, thousands of cases have been sent to the Justice Ministry. These would have to be tried by army courts. Thus my decree has already been implemented several thousand times."

Election Pleases Ike, White Affair Queries Irk Him

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower, pleased at the California election result but nettled by persistent questioning about the Harry Truman-Harry Dexter White affair, held one of his most dramatic news conferences today.

Eisenhower looked grave and perhaps a little strained, in contrast to his usual bouncy manner, when he met with 175 newsmen who—as he well knew from a staff briefing beforehand—were bursting with questions about the White case.

Notes Armistice Day

And about that case the President volunteered no comments.

He began his news conference by noting today was Armistice Day—a day that always has meant a lot to Americans. He said—and he asked correspondents to mention this in their stories.

Then the President called attention to a Navy report saying race segregation has been virtually abolished at all installations in the South. "Most encouraging," he called this, in a prepared statement.

He said, too, the election in the Philippines seems to have been a fair one—and that's encouraging, he said, for the democracies.

As for the Republican victory in yesterday's California Congressional election, Eisenhower said he was pleased—adding with a grin that he had to qualify his pleasure somewhat last week, in the wake of GOP setbacks in New Jersey and elsewhere. The President joined in the rumble of laughter from newsmen.

Bombarded With Questions

Then he invited questions. And they bombarded him from all sides.

Eisenhower answered slowly, with evident caution, for the most part—though he sometimes spoke out with emphasis and his one-word negative was delivered almost explosively when a newsman asked, with reference to the White case, if he thought Truman ever knowingly appointed a spy to high office.

POW Interview Program Stalled

PANMUNJOM, Thursday, Nov. 12 (AP)—The paralyzed Red program of explanations to prisoners of the Korean War hung fire today for the seventh straight day while the Communist high command pondered the next step.

Meanwhile, diplomatic staff advisers worked in secret in their efforts to find common ground for planning a Korean peace conference. U. S. envoy Arthur H. Dean and Chinese and Red Korean foreign ministry councilors are deadlocked over Communist insistence on inviting Asian neutrals to the peace talks.

In the prisoner impasse, Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya of India, chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission, was expected to return to Kaesong tonight or tomorrow to hear the Red answer to his suggestion for reopening the stalled prisoner interviews.

Thimayya has proposed a speeded-up program and indicated the Indians would take over the POW screening if the Reds did not agree.

Commons Approves Regency Transfer

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—A measure to transfer Princess Margaret's regency rights to the Duke of Edinburgh was approved by the House of Commons without opposition on second reading today. Final passage comes on the third reading, a formality.

The measure is a proposed amendment to the regency act of 1937. Under its provisions the husband of Queen Elizabeth II and not her sister would become acting monarch in case the Queen dies before her son, Prince Charles, is 18. Charles will be five Saturday.

Five Finns Held As Spies

HELSINKI, Finland, Nov. 11 (AP)—Finnish security police announced today the arrest of five Finns, including an officer and an enlisted man of the armed forces, on charges of spying for an unidentified foreign power.

Lab Is Designed To Give Lowdown On Flying Saucers

OTTAWA, Nov. 11 (AP)—Canada's Transport Department is building the world's first laboratory designed to prove or disprove the existence of flying saucers.

W. B. Smith, engineer in charge of the broadcast and measurement section of the department, said today the laboratory or sighting station is under construction at Shirley's Bay, 10 miles northwest of Ottawa, and should be in operation in a few days.

Smith said the station is designed to detect gamma rays, magnetic fluctuations, radio noises and gravity or mass changes in the atmosphere.

The engineer said if there are any interplanetary flying saucers, "they must work on some technology which has something in common with our own basic physics. If that is so, our equipment will be able to detect them."

Woman Is Freed In Abortion Death

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Nov. 11 (AP)—A 32-year-old Cambridge woman on trial for manslaughter in the death of another woman fainted today when the jury brought in a verdict of innocent.

The defendant, blonde Mrs. Sarah Willey, was quickly revived.

The jury of seven men and five women deliberated about 50 minutes before announcing the verdict of acquittal for Mrs. Willey, who had been accused in the death of Miss Thelma Pryor, 26-year-old secretary to a law firm at LaPlata.

Charges also had been brought against three men. The state said it planned not to prosecute in one case but would leave two others on the books.

Mrs. Willey had taken the stand yesterday to deny contentions by the state she had attempted an illegal operation on Miss Pryor at the Willey apartment in Cambridge.

Mrs. Willey testified she "didn't do anything to the girl, and I didn't attempt to."

Manslaughter charges also had been brought against Elva Fletcher, of Laurel, Del., companion of Miss Pryor, who said he probably was father of her unborn child, and Howard Hubbard, who lives at the Willey home. Hubbard and a taxi driver, Monroe Jones, also had been charged with conspiracy.

Today after the verdict in the Willey case, State's Attorney Calvin Brinsfield said he would not prosecute the manslaughter charge against Fletcher but was letting stand the charges against Jones and Hubbard.

36 Passengers Hurt In PRR Train Wreck

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11 (AP)—A Pennsylvania Railroad commuter train, only partly filled because of Armistice Day holiday, jumped the rails as it moved slowly across a Schuylkill River bridge today injuring 36 passengers.

The first car of the eight car Chestnut Hill local was cut almost in half, by a heavy steel girder. The car's bottom was ripped out and passengers spilled out onto the tracks. Only the bridge wall kept the cars from tipping into the river.

A second car, also derailed, was dragged forward, churning up stones and ties for 30 feet.

The wreck occured during the PRR's morning rush of commuting traffic into Central Philadelphia. PRR engineers and city police began an immediate probe to learn the cause.

WEIDEN, Germany, Nov. 11 (AP)—Three Germans were held today on charges they stole more than 50 tons of metal landing strips from a U. S. Army air field and smuggled the material behind the Iron Curtain via Italy.

Wall Falls, Kills Two Workmen

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 11 (AP)—A foot-thick wall swayed a slight warning today and then quickly tumbled on six workmen who were buried in a 15-ton avalanche of masonry.

Two Negro men died in the brick and concrete grave, but four others escaped critical injury because the fallen beams shielded them.

It took 15 minutes to bring the four injured from the debris, but 30 shovel-swinging firemen with axes and electric saws sweated for an hour and five minutes before extricating the first victim, Weston Brown of Richmond.

Three hours and 10 minutes later, they pulled the second victim, Lee Byers, also of Richmond, from rubble six feet deep.

The workmen were dismantling a downtown Richmond building when a 20x15 section of the brick wall collapsed. The falling masonry knocked the six men 18 feet into the bottom of the structure.

Moscow's Reaction

World War I Dead Honored In Traditional Ceremonies

By The Associated Press

In simple and traditional ceremonies honoring the dead of World War I, Americans marked another Armistice Day yesterday.

President Eisenhower silently placed a wreath of large, yellow chrysanthemums at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery.

The principal address there was delivered by Secretary of the Army Stevens, who said there can be no real peace in the world unless it is accompanied by security, integrity and liberty.

Another speaker at Arlington, Arthur J. Connell of Middletown, Conn., national commander of the American Legion, proclaimed that peace can be won by an America "united in determination and devotion to it."

In Europe, only France held public ceremonies. Speaking at Compeigne, Premier Joseph Laniel urged Frenchmen to demonstrate that while the country lacked political stability there is firmness "in the continuity of the national ideal." France lost 1,357,000 men in World War I. Compeigne is where the armistice was signed with imperial Germany.

American forces stationed abroad took an official holiday.

Religious services in churches all over the country marked the day, and at 11 a.m. there was the traditional minute of reverent silence.

At a news conference preceding the Arlington ceremony, Eisenhower said Armistice Day has always meant a lot to Americans. As a favor, he asked all of the 175 reporters present to mention in their stories that it was Armistice Day and to explain what Armistice Day really meant to the country at one time.

First "Definite" Isolation Of Polio Virus Announced

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 11 (AP)—First "definite" isolation and identification of human infantile paralysis virus was announced today by a University of California scientist who said the development "is expected to speed up the fight against polio."

Dr. Wendell Stanley said the development paves the way for chemical analysis of the structure of the germ, and thereby might conceivably lead to improved polio vaccines and possibly even to the ultimate development of a chemical weapon to treat the disease. The research is supported by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Stanley said two of his colleagues at the University's virus laboratory at Berkeley have obtained "the first photographs definitely identifying the human polio virus" and have established with certainty that it is a spherically-shaped germ about a millionth of an inch in diameter.

He added that the scientists were the first to distinguish—with experimental certainty—between virus particles and impurities accompanying them in preparations known to contain polio germs.

Stanley made the announcement at the autumn meeting of the National Academy of Sciences and amplified on the technical details in an interview.

He told the scientists that virus of "unusual purity" has been isolated—in small quantities so far—by means of special purification techniques. And he told a reporter:

"The new knowledge is expected to speed up the fight against polio, primarily by providing more definite facts about the virus."

Philippines Has New Political Star

MANILA, Thursday, Nov 12 (AP)—Ramon Magsaysay today appeared to have vaulted the tremendous gap from an unknown young guerrilla fighter against the Japanese 10 years ago to president of The Philippines' 20 million people.

In so doing, he ousted ailing President Elpidio Quirino; delivered a crippling blow to the dominant Liberal party which he quit eight months ago; and carried his Nacionalista party to new heights of power.

The Philippines had a new political star.

As election returns at the halfway mark carried Magsaysay into almost a 3-1 lead, the Liberal party chief, House Speaker Eugenio Perez, said Magsaysay could win by an unprecedented total.

Perez added, however, that he was not ready to concede.

Quirino in his gloom-shrouded Malacanan Palace had nothing to say publicly as he received the adverse reports from his provincial lieutenants.

No Big 4 Talk Bid Sent Malenkov, Tass Says

Red News Agency Denounces Report

MOSCOW, Nov. 11 (AP)—Tass denied today that Premier Georgi M. Malenkov has been invited to attend a Big Four meeting or has accepted such an invitation.

The Soviet news agency declared a report issued yesterday by the French Press Agency was "evidently designed to divert attention from the aim which is being pursued in the projected separate conference on Bermuda island of the heads of the governments of the U. S. A., Britain and France."

President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Joseph Laniel of France are to meet on Bermuda Dec. 4 for talks on "various matters of common concern."

The text of the Tass statement:

"The French Press Agency referring to a British source, has circulated a report alleging that a proposal has been made to G. M. Malenkov, chairman of the Council of Ministers of the U. S. S. R., to take part in a conference of the heads of the governments of the four powers—the U. S. S. R., the United States, Britain, and France—and that G. M. Malenkov has informed the British government through (Foreign Minister) V. M. Molotov that he would agree to the convocation of such a conference.

"Tass is authorized to state that the above mentioned report does not correspond at all to reality and is evidently designed to divert attention from the aim which is being pursued in the projected separate conference on Bermuda island of the heads of the governments of the U. S. A., Britain and France."

The Russians appeared to some qualified observers to be setting up the invitation report in order to knock it down.

The French Press Agency did not specifically say a proposal had been made to Malenkov for a Big Four conference. It said Molotov had informed the British government of Malenkov's willingness to join such a conference.

Georgian Disagrees With HST On Meaning Of "Snollygoster"

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Nov. 11 (AP)—The son of the man who coined the word "snollygoster" today disagreed with former President Truman on the meaning of the term.

W. C. Ham, local insurance agent, said his father, the late H. W. C. Ham used the word to describe "a political also ran, a little man always running for an office too big for him and never getting anywhere."

He said his father coined the word while appearing as a Chatauqua lecturer around the turn of the century.

U. S. Reported Seeking Bases In Pakistan

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Pakistan and British informants said today the United States is negotiating with Pakistan for permission to establish military bases on the Asian subcontinent in exchange for defense aid.

The informants said that the agreement if concluded would set up American forces on both western and eastern segments of Pakistan which are separated by more than 1,000 miles of Indian territory.

(In Washington, officials told reporters the defense of the Middle East is getting top level consideration but no negotiations are actually under way with Pakistan. However, the White House announced the governor-general of Pakistan, Ghulam Mohammed, will be a luncheon guest of President Eisenhower tomorrow. Several members of the President's Cabinet, including Secretary of Defense Wilson, also will attend.)

West Bids For Arms Talks With Russia

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 11 (AP)—Britain, France and the United States today offered to hold direct talks with Russia on atomic control and disarmament.

They joined in submitting a resolution to the U.N.'s 60-nation Political Committee suggesting that the disarmament commission sponsor the private talks.

Solon's Lost Dog Found In Pound

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 11 (AP)—Cyclone, prize pet of U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz), has returned home after five days in the pokey.

The charge: Disturbing the peace.

The 6-year-old English bulldog set out on an evening stroll last week and disappeared.

Goldwater anxiously ran a newspaper advertisement giving the runaway's description and added the message:

"All is forgiven, please come home."

But to no avail. Then a check of the dog pound brought results. There was Cyclone behind bars, gingerly nursing a few new battle wounds.

The dog catcher had picked him up minus a collar and without identification.

Cyclone is in the dog house now to be sure—in the backyard of the Goldwater residence.

Mystery Disease Resembles 'Flu

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—A new mystery disease, which acts like 'flu and is apparently far more common, was described today by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh.

A new vaccine protects against the 'flu virus, he said. But there's no protection yet against this "X" disease which hits during 'flu epidemics.

Just what agent causes the new disease isn't known. It might be the so-called "Virus X," blamed for grippe-like ailments.

Dr. Salk, who developed both the new polio vaccine and 'flu vaccine, described the mystery ailment to the American Public Health Assn.

He detected it during studies of influenza and his vaccine at Fort Dix, N. J., during the last few years. The disease may be the same as one detected by other researchers at Ft. Bragg, N. C.

The "X" disease accounted for about two-thirds of all soldiers hospitalized during the wintertime 'flu waves. Blood tests can show when a person has real 'flu.

Senate Group Opens White Probe Today

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—While a House committee hesitated, a Senate group prepared tonight to open its probe into the Harry Dexter White case.

The Senate internal security subcommittee arranged a televised public hearing tomorrow (2:30 p.m. EST) into Atty. Gen. Brownell's charge that former President Truman promoted White from the Treasury Department to a key post in the International Monetary Fund in the face of FBI reports linking White with Soviet espionage.

GOP Takes New Heart Following California Win

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower hailed the Republican victory in California with a smile of pleasure today while GOP chieftains took new heart after the gloom of recent Democratic triumphs at the polls.

The Republican National Committee promptly termed the outcome "An endorsement of the Eisenhower administration and a good omen for 1954."

Democrats challenged any idea of attaching national significance to the California results in relation to next year's all-important congressional elections.

At his news conference, Eisenhower volunteered an expression of pleasure at the GOP victory without waiting for newsmen to ask him about it.

Final results in the California election—in the 24th District embracing sections of Los Angeles and Pasadena—showed Republican Glenard P. Lipscomb defeated Democrat George Arnold, 42,880 to 34,545. Two other men—a Republican and Democrat—ran far behind in the four-man race.

The district has 81,691 registered Democrats against 75,289 Republicans.

Lipscomb's victory makes the House lineup: Republicans 219, Democrats 215, Independent 1.

More than anything else, the California result buoyed Republican hopes which had plummeted badly after upset Democratic wins in Wisconsin and New Jersey in recent elections.

It was not immediately clear whether the uproar over the Harry Dexter White "Russian spy" case was a major factor in yesterday's California voting.

Suspect Is Detained In Waterman's Death

CRISFIELD, Md., Nov. 11 (AP)—State police today were holding a man for lie-detector questioning in connection with the death of a prosperous Smith Island waterman.

Police said the suspect would be taken to Wilmington, Del., for questioning at Delaware State Police headquarters where a lie detector is available.

The waterman, 59-year-old Capt. Edwin C. Smith, was found dead yesterday near the waterfront. His body was badly battered, much as if he had been run over by a car, and nearly $1,500 was missing from his clothing.

headquarters, where officials said they didn't much like the way Velde had hustled out subpoenas.

Byrnes, who broke with Truman and now is governor of South Carolina, refused to obey the committee's subpoena for an appearance tomorrow.

In a telegram from Columbia, S. C., Byrnes said he could not "admit your right to command a governor to leave his state and remain in the city of Washington until granted leave by your committee to return." He proposed that a subcommittee come to Columbia.

Chairman Velde (R-Ill) wired back that the suggestion undoubtedly would be adopted by the committee and a date would be fixed as soon as possible.

It was on Velde's sayso that the subpoenas for Truman and Byrnes were issued in the first place. A for Friday was served, too, on Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark, who was Truman's attorney general in 1946. That also was something Eisenhower said he personally wouldn't have done.

headquarters, where officials said they didn't much like the way Velde had hustled out subpoenas.

Byrnes, who broke with Truman and now is governor of South Carolina, refused to obey the committee's subpoena for an appearance tomorrow.

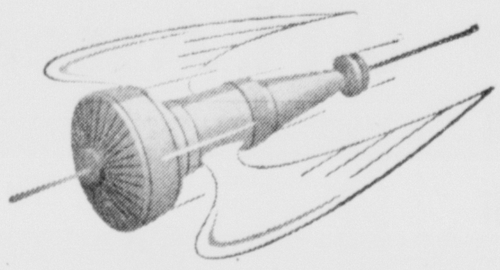

In a telegram from Columbia, S. C., Byrnes said he could not "admit your right to command a governor to leave his state and remain in the city of Washington until granted leave by your committee to return." He proposed that a subcommittee come to Columbia.

Chairman Velde (R-Ill) wired back that the suggestion undoubtedly would be adopted by the committee and a date would be fixed as soon as possible.

It was on Velde's sayso that the subpoenas for Truman and Byrnes were issued in the first place. A subpoena for Friday was served, too, on Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark, who was Truman's attorney general in 1946. That also was something Eisenhower said he personally wouldn't have done.

M'Keldin Urges Pen-Pal Drive For Democracy

BALTIMORE, Nov. 11 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin proposed a patriotic pen-pal campaign to promote democracy across the seas today in a speech at impressive but sparsely attended Armistice Day ceremonies here.

"We have arrived at Armistice Day in 1953 free of conflict but still under the threat of a third world war—a threat made more horrible than any in the past by the existence of atomic and hydrogen weapons," he said.

"And yet there is hope—good hope for a lasting peace," he added. Part of this hope, he indicated, lies in the lead the United States has maintained over potential enemies in the stockpiling of modern weapons.

McKeldin then urged that Americans write other peoples about life in this country.

"Write to the people," he said. "Tell them about the stories in American newspapers. Tell them about the open criticisms of the President of the United States, of our senators and representatives, of our governors, our mayors, our councilmen and others.

"Send them clippings. Let them know that Americans live with a government—not under a government—that we are the masters of that government and not its servants."

Noting that fewer than 100 persons turned out for the ceremonies in the spacious War Memorial, McKeldin declared:

"If there is one sin for which there is no forgiveness, it is the sin of ingratitude."

Ancient republics which forgot their dead heroes, he said, soon became dead republics.

As the big City Hall clock struck 11 a.m. across the plaza from the Memorial Building, two Army buglers facing each other on the building steps touched their instruments to their lips and sounded taps.

Armistice Day 1953 Ironic Reminder Of Time's Change

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Strange how completely times change.

Thirty-five years ago today, at 2:48 a.m., an AP bulletin out of Washington proclaimed the glad tydings:

"The armistice between Germany, on the one hand, and the Allied governments and the United States, on the other, has been signed.

"The World War will end this morning at 6 o'clock, Washington time, 11 o'clock Paris time."

Rarely has any announcement set off a wilder international spree.

What happened here was typical of what went on in most U. S. cities and towns, as well as in cities throughout the world. Bonfires, snake dances, horns blowing, whistles tooting—300,000 persons in the nation's capital seemingly with but one ambition: To make more and more noise.

Optimism rode high.

As Sen. Borah (R-Ida) said: "It is an exhilarating hour."

As Woodrow Wilson said: "Everything America fought for has been accomplished."

As a Washington Evening Star reporter said in describing the lighted Washington Monument: It is "standing like a great white witness to the truths of government which George Washington succeeded in establishing on the earth, and which are now spreading throughout the world."

Oddly, the soldiers who did the job seemed calmest of all.

Kenneth Mayo, a U. S. officer, said:

"At the armistice hour there was no demonstration by shouting, slapping each other on back, dancing, and tossing of hats. When the noise of battle ceased there was a restful peace that passeth man's understanding or his ability to describe; there was no hilarity or jubilation.

"Among the Germans opposite there was considerable shouting, singing, beating of drums, and blowing of bugles, all up and down the line—a remarkable contrast to the actions of the American troops."

Who could have bothered to think about a little Austrian corporal sulking in the beaten enemy's lines? Or of a revolutionary who called himself Stalin?

The U. S. feeling seemed to be unanimous: The war to make the world safe for democracy, the war to end all wars, had ended at last.

And what of today?

The President went to Arlington to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Speeches were made.

But it's ironic, in view of the high hopes of 35 years ago, that most people in the nation's capital were reminded of the day by the newspaper ads. Since government workers have the day off, stores are open and eager for business.

It's a great day, the ads say, to pick up bargains.

Is Dead Hitchhiker Thomas John Marsh?

CLINTON, Ky., Nov. 11 (AP)—The identity of a penniless hitchhiker killed in a traffic accident near here had police puzzled today.

Was the victim Thomas John Marsh, once sought in the $600,000 Greenlease kidnaping case; or was he Henry Epley of Hannibal, Mo., ... sing for four months?

A wallet on the body bore the name of Billy Stars of Mexico, Mo., but state police said the man's physical characteristics were almost identical with those of Marsh.

These included a missing left ring finger, tattoos on both arms and a knife wound on the left side.

The man's fingerprints were sent to the FBI in Washington for positive identification but it declined comment on the case.

There are now some 34,000 foreign students studying in American universities.

Mudd Opposes Car Inspections

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 11 (AP)—Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Thomas B. R. Mudd said today the state could reestablish automobile inspections in Maryland but that he feels the move would be unsatisfactory.

The statement came in a letter to State Sen. Louis N. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel) who had urged the state to resume inspections under existing laws.

Mudd said that this would be possible, but that "about the only thing we could do would be to revive the old system which was abandoned as being entirely unsatisfactory from the standpoint of both the dealers and the public."

Inspections were discontinued by the state during World War II.

Mudd said he feels it would be unwise to take such a matter upon himself since two separate bills for inspections were rejected by the Legislature at its last session.

There has been strong sentiment in parts of the state for several years urging auto inspections. Much of the support is centered in Montgomery County.

Censorship Relaxed

Washington correspondents recall clearly the gathering in the Old State Department building, next to the White House, in late September of 1951 when the controversial "security" order issued by President Truman was read to newsmen by the late Joe Short, the President's press secretary. They remember the chorus of disbelief that rose when Mr. Short announced that all governmental agency and department heads would be given the power of classifying information within their purview according to the familiar military classifications.

The press has been fighting this order since its inception on two basic points. In the first place, the order was quite vague about what was "security" information, and what wasn't. Too, the executive order issued by Mr. Truman provided nothing in the way of an appeal board. Mr. Short, we recall, ad libbed an offer to serve as an appeal board when it became painfully clear that the framers of the order had overlooked it altogether.

Both these points have been dealt with specifically in the order issued by President Eisenhower. In addition, the power to classify information has been stripped away entirely from the heads of 28 agencies and places the responsibility for classification on the heads of 17 other agencies. The large executive agencies, such as Justice, Commerce, and the like, may name a classifying officer.

Perhaps the greatest improvement is the erasure of the "restricted" classification. Under the pretext of classifying certain data as harmful to national security, if released to the public, certain agencies had buried a wealth of material which should have been in the public domain. This classification was also a refuge for lazy governmental employes who didn't want to go to the trouble of digging out certain information.

Attorney General Brownell is correct when he says the old order enabled bureaucrats to hide blunders and derelictions of duty. Mr. Brownell feels that, in addition to correcting some obvious faults, the new order will permit a freer flow of information about the government without jeopardizing national security. The old order was definitely a form of censorship. In rescinding it the President has definitely advanced freedom of information.

Churchill Climbs Down

The latest Soviet note has convinced the State Department that the Russians are not interested in settling the German question at this time — or even talking about it. So, department thinking goes, there is no use writing any more notes about a conference. The only feasible course is to sit tight until the Russian mood changes. And that is Washington's prescription.

This sounds sensible. But will the governments of the countries allied with the U. S. agree. Or will they continue to exert pressure to get some kind of meeting going — as British Prime Minister Churchill did last May when he suggested a Big Three or Big Four conference at the head-of-state level? If they do, sitting tight will be uncomfortable.

No prediction is possible at this time, but it does seem safe to say that Prime Minister Churchill will not be pressing President Eisenhower to have a face-to-face talk with Premier Malenkov of Soviet Russia. For six months it has been Churchill's position that such a gathering could not do much harm and might do great good. Now he has changed his mind.

At the opening of Parliament the other day he contributed a few remarks after Queen Elizabeth had read the Speech from the Throne. They amounted to a defense of his efforts to arrange a top-level conference combined with an admission that it is time to give up the idea. He spoke of the risk that such a meeting would only make matters worse, said it would be folly to imagine that it could lead straightway to a general solution, and said that time will be needed for a settlement — "more time than some of us here are likely to see."

When he was using his great influence in behalf of a meeting of the Big Four chiefs of state, one explanation given for his insistence was that he hoped to crown his career with an understanding between Russia and the West that would mean a stable peace. Now he thinks that a settlement will not come in the way he had hoped.

New Information Policy

Editorial comment on the policy announced by President Eisenhower for the new United States Information Agency indicates a general agreement that improvement has been effected. As outlined by the National Security Council, it is a straightforward and simple program for presenting American objectives to the world.

What it amounts to is an attempt to identify American aims and objectives with those of freedom-loving peoples everywhere. The aim will be to convince those who may still not be sure of American motives that this country does not seek domination, but to insure a free world that offers opportunity for a wholesome life.

The USIA will tell its story factually, avoiding propaganda and maintaining emphasis on truth. But it is enjoined to be imaginative enough to foresee how the picture presented will affect those on the receiving end.

In making this new start, the USIA is given the chance to avoid the mistakes of its predecessors. Instead of picturing the abundance that marks America off from many other areas, it will concentrate on showing the things free men have in common.

Married Women Workers

It will come as a surprise to no observant person that more married women are employed today than ever before, but eyebrows will go up at the announcement by the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor that more than half of the 19,000,000 women workers outside their homes are married.

In 1940, when there were 12,000,000 women workers, one-third, or 4,000,000, were married. But while the number of employed women increased by about 58 per cent in 13 years, the married workers increased 137 per cent. Granted "the increasing need for women's work," which the Labor Department mentions, with the suggestion that perhaps it is due to the fact that there are more married women now, the change in proportion of married to unmarried workers is far from being explained.

Family living is on a higher plane, and it is difficult otherwise to account for the fact that 27 per cent of all the married women of the nation are in whole or part-time employment.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Social Misfits

The world is filled with maladjusted persons who have trouble conforming to the standards of modern society. They appear normal and usually live on what others provide. Some are asocial; others shiftless, ignorant, or lazy. They come from all walks of life and vary from the incompetent and spoiled sons of the rich to the bums on the street and from the well-dressed, social sponge to the hardened criminal.

When the New York psychiatrist, Dr. B. Liber, was a student in Paris, he had many opportunities to rub elbows with these individuals. There were the suave society types whose sole occupation was begging in a "noble" way. Also the artists who spent most of their time drinking and dreaming at a sidewalk cafe. They never painted because they were always waiting for an inspiration that never came. There were fellow students who came to the continent with the best intention to study but they did nothing about it.

Dr. Liber also cited the example of an unemployed engineer whose father was a brilliant college professor. He was married and content to live off the earnings of his wife. On several occasions he tried to work but could never develop enough enthusiasm to hold the job. He dressed well, appeared to be intelligent, and had refined tastes. He had decided a long time ago that he could never achieve success, and consequently was not frustrated when it did not materialize. He was a parasite of the first degree and when his wife finally left him he shrugged his shoulders and found another who was anxious to take him on as a sort of pet.

Such individuals are not interested in working. They are abnormally lazy because they are mentally maladjusted. Those who are the sons and daughters of wealthy individuals present a special problem because money enters the picture. Their parents have too much pride to admit that the youngster is incompetent to handle a large family fortune. In time, the majority are surrounded by charlatans, fakers, and other ne'er-do-wells. Their name and money also make attractive bait for useless organizations.

The immature delinquent also is a psychopathic personality. Some become criminals but the majority never break the law even though they exploit the public and feel no compunction in cheating or harming anyone whenever possible. These youngsters are anti-social and are convinced that ordinary social life is worthless. Examples include the "boss," the "fence," the "gambler," and "shady business man" who live a questionable existence yet never commit criminal offense. The teachings of the school, church, family, law, and community mean nothing to them. Some are normal mentally; others of low intelligence or psychopathic.

NOT ADVISABLE

N. W. writes: Can a person of 83 take ACTH or cortisone for rheumatism?

REPLY

These hormnes have been used but seldom are succesful because the arthritis of an 83-year-old usually is the kind resulting from wear and tear (osteoarthritis). This type is not always amenable to ACTH or cortisone. Furthermore, these preparations are contraindicated when there is severe high blood pressure or hardening of the arteries.

NECK PAIN

G. L. writes: What is cervical arthritis?

REPLY

Arthritis of the vertebrae of the neck. Pain may be localized in the neck or it may shoot up into the head and down into the arms.

REPLY

Sleeping is here to stay. Why fight it?

GANGRENE

J. Y. writes: How does gangrene of the appendix develop?

REPLY

Swelling and inflammation of the appendix ultimately shuts off circulation to the organ, leading gangrene and necrosis.

MIGRAINE

REPLY

The usual migraine remedies ought to be tried.

LOW BLOOD PROTEIN

State Department Alarmed Over Trieste; U. S. Saves South Korean Officers From Purge; Japs Not Too Eager To Build Up Defense Force

WASHINGTON — Worried State Department officials admit privately that the fuse is burning shorter on the Trieste powder keg.

The Army is pressing to declare martial law in order to prevent additional bloodshed. However, the State Department fears this move would only heighten the tension.

What has the State Department really worried, however, is that our Trieste policy has driven Yugoslavia back to the strict neutralism it followed immediately after Marshal Tito's break with Russia.

This will mean that Yugoslavia's rugged army cannot be tied into Western defense plans. Up to now, Gen. Al Gruenther, the supreme commander in Europe, has counted Tito's forces as part of the 80 divisions he has reported can be mustered to meet a Russian attack.

Meanwhile, British-American intelligence has uncovered 20 Soviet agents working inside the rioting student groups. On the other side, Moscow agents have also been discovered on the Trieste police force. Their orders from the Kremlin have been to use brutality against the students in order to keep the trouble boiling.

Headlines and Footnotes

Russian mountain climbers will try to plant a bust of Lenin on top of Mt. Everest next year. . . . The Army has quietly brought several high South Korean officers to this country — officially for "study." Unofficial reason, however, is that Syngman Rhee was planning to purge them. The foxy old South Korean leader feared the officers were too sympathetic to the U. S., might not be loyal to him in case of a showdown. . . . . Southeast Asia has become a hotbed of intrigue and espionage. The U. S. has sent its best agents to Thailand, the Russians are operating out of Burma and the Chinese Communists have set up spy headquarters in Indonesia. . . . . The cattlemen's caravan, which failed to persuade Secretary of Agriculture Benson to support cattle prices, will take their case to the public — via television. . . . . Clarence Randall, who has been trying to sell low tariffs to his 17-man Foreign Economic Policy Commission, kept remarking during recent hearings that his imported Swiss watch kept better time than the clock on the hearing-room wall . . . Athletes from foreign countries will demonstrate their skills at an international sports exposition, to be held in Washington next spring during Cherry Blossom Week. . . . . The National Security Council will decide today whether to give up coaxing the aviation gas producers to expand their facilities. For several months, the government has been trying to persuade the private companies to increase their capacity for producing aviation gas. Now it looks as if the government will have to build the new plants itself.

Japan Doesn't Want Arms

Backstage conversations regarding the new Japanese army and navy make it quite clear that the Japanese government is not nearly as anxious to build up a defense force as the United States is to have it built.

In private conferences held in Japan, the Japanese government indicated it would like a navy of 300,000 tons, all small coastal craft; an army of 250,000 troops; and an air force of four wings, three to be F-84 fighter bombers and one to be F-86 jet intercepters.

The Pentagon agreed on the 300,000 naval tonnage, recommended a 300,000-man army and approved four air wings, except they should all be intercepters and no fighter-bombers. Specifically, the Air Force recommended 1,000 combat planes and 500 supporting planes, mostly trainers, for Japan.

However, Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's special negotiator, Hayato Ikeda, threw a bombshell into the talks by asking for only 200,000 naval tonnage and no air force at all. Instead he advocated a long-range goal of 300,000 to 400,000 troops.

The final decision will probably depend on what policy the Eisenhower administration adopts toward Red China.

H-Bomb Deters War

Carleton Smith of the National Arts Foundation asked Premier Naguib of Egypt who he thought should get Arts Foundation prizes for service to humanity.

Naguib replied:

"The man who invents something which prevents war."

"Do you have any candidates?" asked Smith.

"Yes," replied Egypt's strong man. "The man who invented the H-bomb."

Reduced Air Force

It's not that Eisenhower, an old Army man, doesn't like the Air Force. He's just determined to balance the budget. At any rate it was he personally, and no one else, who blocked the Air Force from going to the 137 wings.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff had set 127 wings as the Air Force goal by July 1, 1956, but agreed to let Gen. Nat Twining, Air Force chief of staff, go one step further and appeal to the White House for 137 wings. Ike vetoed the plea immediately. It would take money out of next year's budget, he said.

Intense GOP Activity

The Republican National Committee, shaken by upsets in Wisconsin, Connecticut, New York and New Jersey, and worried over President Eisenhower's declining popularity, is planning the most high-powered congressional election campaign in history. . . . .They will concentrate on the marginal districts, using all the advertising gimmicks that worked so well in '52. . . . . The GOP National Committee will organize the regular Republicans, and the old Citizens for Eisenhower will be revived to campaign for the independent vote. This will be renamed the Citizens for Eisenhower Congressional Committee, and will try to run Eisenhower, in effect, in each congressional district. Ike himself, of course, won't openly stump the districts.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS) — People, places, things . . .

John Foster Dulles has thrown out a hint or two that the U. S. is willing to give up its veto power in the United Nations, if, of course, Russia, Britain, France and Chiang Kai-Shek's China also will.

We will get no support in that field. The firmest opposition will come from Britain, whose delegation is said to reason: "We can't have all those little nations making big decisions committing us to do this or that in the world." If we did come forward with a clear-cut offer to dispense with the veto, and talked Britain into siding with us, there would still be Russia.

Russia, which casts a veto at the drop of a head, takes a real dim view of the 1955 conference to revise the U. N. charter. The chief monkey-wrench thrower in U. N, wants the world organization apparatus to remain exactly as it is. And, through the veto, has the power to wipe out any change which might be heartily endorsed by the 59 other nations.

In answer to an occasional query as to why the other nations in U .N. don't kick Russia out, let us say the Charter was phrased in such a way that every nation might want to expel Russia but Russia can say "niet," and stay a member in good standing just as long as she pleases. And Lew Lehr used to say monkeys, not people, are the cwaziest people!

In one great field of endeavor—the U. S. automotive industry — there is indeed change. And perennial progress. And few men have made more significant contributions to it in recent years than Raymond Loewy, design consultant of the postwar Studebaker.

Loewy works in a field where it is known to be better business to make changes in an evolutionary way than a revolutionary one. His chief contribution has been to speed up the evolution. Whenever he's asked "how do you know how far to go?" he answers with shattering simplicity, "I just happen to know."

Loewy feels that the industry grew to greatness on four big stepping stones: The self-starter ("a whole generation of people without muscles were freed to become drivers"), the closed car ("it made the automobile an automobile, not a version of a horse and buggy"), four-wheel brakes ("made high-powered, high-geared, high-speed automobiles practical") and automatic transmissions, which reduced the drudgery of driving.

He feels the next big step will be models that open the era of the American sportscar, not a copy of the cramped, cost-a-million European sportscar, but something fresh, new, safe, dependable and reasonably priced. Loewy would like to discard the name "sportscar" and get a new one.

"Coin a good name for the first American sportscars and the whole industry will be grateful," says the dashing designer.

There's going to be no depression, says the Lead Pencil Manufacturers Association. The group claims that whenever the pencil business is good, business in general is good. And the pencil business is bewilderingly good.

About 1,400,000,000 pencils will be sold this year. Biggest consumer is industry, next biggest school kids, and Uncle Sam comes third. There were some 350 kinds of pencils, including 17 different black leads alone. Queen Elizabeth I ruled the world's toughest pencil monopoly. She would permit England's great graphite mine to be worked only six weeks a year, and the ore was heavily guarded on its way to London.

Napoleon broke the monopoly. He ordered his scientists to find a substitute for the British graphite pencils, from which France had been cut off. One of his men came up with a mixture of cheap graphite and powdered clay, which he fired like a piece of pottery in a kiln. This remains the basic process used in making pencils throughout the world. Can't say what happened to Bess's graphite mine.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Some new expressions have become a part of the political vocabulary of the hour. It was supposed, for instance, to be "bad timing" and "low politics" for Attorney General Brownell—or at least so the Democratic national chairman says —to declare that, although Harry Dexter White was a "Rusian spy," he had been nominated in 1946 to a high post by former President Truman.

Apparently it wasn't "bad timing" or "low politics" for Robert F. Wagner Jr., successful Democratic candidate for mayor of New York City, to make a sweeping charge that an influential person, high in the Eisenhower administration, had asked Governor Dewey to parole Joseph S. Fay, labor leader convicted of extortion. Mr. Wagner, who received the plaudits of Mr. Truman when he was elected last week, had referred—without naming him—to one of Governor Dewey's "closest political associates on the national scene" and "a national figure whose every word and action carries tremendous weight throughout the country."

No Apology From Democrats

There was no complaint from the Democratic chieftains then that this was a smear attack, even though the plain inference was that the reference was to somebody in the Eisenhower cabinet—in fact, it was taken by many people to mean Attorney General Brownell, and rumor was that the incident happened when he was in private law practice. But Mr. Brownell promptly denied that he had at any time directly or indirectly interceded for Fay. Yet no apology came from the Democrats. The Wagner statement was never withdrawn.

Nor did it seem to be "low politics" from the standpoint of the Democratic national chairman last year to stand by and let former President Truman make campaign speeches which cast doubt on the integrity, if not the loyalty, of General Eisenhower. Instead, the Democrats enthusiastically cried out, "Give 'em hell, Harry."

Now the former President is on the receiving line of the give-'em-hell strategy, if indeed it is something political, and only in the interests of one party, to expose Communist spies and how they get promoted inside our government.

Mr. Truman's friends are arguing that it isn't dignified or right to subpoena a former President and that it would have been better to ask him to appear as a matter of volition. That would have been a desirable courtesy, but testimony under oath is sought from all witnesses when information of great importance to the nation is needed by congressional committees.

As for "courtesy," however, it will be recalled that Mr. Truman fired General MacArthur without a hearing and by a public message given to the radio. There wasn't much "courtesy" when he fired Admiral Denfeld. Both were fired for political reasons.

The former President ought to be the last to complain about the way the White controversy has developed. He himself first gave it momentum by saying he didn't recall the FBI report and that he "fired" White as soon as his disloyalty was discovered. The facts now turn out to be that there was quite a lot of fuss inside the administration about it and that at the time—February 1946—James F. Byrnes, then secretary of state and now governor of South Carolina, discussed the whole thing with Mr. Truman, saying he was well aware that the FBI had reported White to be a member of the Soviet espionage ring.

Why The Complimentary Letter?

A theory has been advanced that Mr. Truman may not have wanted to expose White at the time when the FBI report reached him, preferring to have the investigative process continued. There is no record of such a course of action in the Department of Justice. But even if this were so, then why did Mr. Truman on April 20, 1946, send such a complimentary letter to White when he resigned as assistant secretary of the treasury to take the post of U.S. director of the International Monetary Fund?

The most plausible explanation is that Mr. Truman, like so many people in his administration, was gullible and that someone in whom he did have confidence probably went to bat for White and flatly denied the truth of the charges.

It has been suggested also that Mr. Truman couldn't at that time — February 1946 — determine the guilt or innocence of White, since there had been no trial or indictment. This is a widely held fallacy —for employment in the Government of the United States is not a right but a privilege. The FBI report had in it enough testimony to have brought about dismissal from the government. Today, although the president of Harvard University, for instance, says that refusal by a professor to testify before a congressional committee on the ground of self-incrimination is not a "confession of guilt" and hence does not merit dismissal by Harvard, President Eisenhower has ordered that any government employe who takes refuge in the Fifth Amendment and refuses to say whether he is a Communist or has been engaged in espionage must be instantly fired from the government service.

The record on Harry Dexter White was such that, had he come up today for appointment or continuance in office, the existing rules would have barred him from further employment. One wonders why it took so many years of public agitation concerning the blunders of the Truman administration to bring about the cleanup which the Eisenhower administration has just begun in response to a mandate from the people at the election a year ago.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Oil And Education

LOS ANGELES — Some of the oil-producing states, such as Texas and New Mexico, have tied their educational budget to the production of oil. The states generally receive a one-eighth royalty. If oil is plentifully produced, the schools are plentifully provisioned. The present general reduction in oil production (allowables, as it is called) is imperilling school budgets in those states.

The petroleum industry of Texas, for instance, provides 37.8 per cent of the available school fund; 54.4 per cent of the foundation school fund; and 58.5 per cent of the teacher's retirement fund. Obviously, a sharp reduction of oil production can cripple these funds. The present cut-down of allowables is attributed to the import of foreign oil in an over-extended world market, which became over-extended during the war years and has never adjusted to peacetime needs.

In California, there is a shortage of oil production, but there is no pipeline between California and West Texas and the adjacent oil producing areas. So Texas oil is shipped from Houston, through the Panama Canal, up to Los Angeles by tanker, a distance of 8,812 miles, which makes that oil too expensive for California. A pipeline would reduce the distance to 550 miles and is a less expensive way to move this product.

Oil for the West Coast comes from the Middle and Near East, Venezuela, Sumatra, Borneo, and from Texas in tankers. A recent development, not yet completed, is to bring oil from West Canada, by pipeline, to a refinery at Bellingham, Wash. Canadian production is in an early stage and does not yet amount to much; but the Canadians are hopeful that their fields will develop enormously and will expand far beyond Canada's capacity to consume oil, thus providing that country with another export product. Canada views its exports realistically, seeking always to develop a favorable trade balance.

The Texas oil men naturally raise the propagandistic argument that California consumers ought to prefer Texas to Canada, if for no other reason than they happen to be Americans just as the Californians are. That used to be a good argument about anything, but in these days of internationalism, it would seem to be a liability, because it is part of the current do-good policy to favor foreigners at the expense of Americans.

In fact, it has often been suggested in recent years that the way to solve this paradox of importing from abroad commodities of which we have much or even too much at home is to lower the tariff, to import plentifully from abroad and to give the American producer a dole. After all, the argument runs, we give a subsidy to the farmer not to produce, why not give the American businessman a subsidy not to produce? And why not give American labor a dole if it agrees not to work?

Some of those who are so enthusiastically supporting the dole idea for business that might become distressed because of easy imports into this country, fought bitterly against doles for other segments of the population in distress. Although mere consistency is not a virtue, the record ought to be stated.

The anti-social character of their argument should be obvious, but it is not to the internationalists who are more concerned about Jordan, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and Borneo than they are about Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Louisiana. It is a theory of self-flagellation in the economic field and produces a self-righteous glow among those enormously important businessmen whose investments are universal and whose interests know no nationality.

Also, we have learned in two wars what the submarine can do and now we need to add the efficient airplane and the atom bombs and atom guns to the submarine. Therefore it must be assumed that in time of war, our safest course is to be as self-sufficient as possible. Certainly we need not import oil. It might be argued that if production is reduced in the United States and is increased abroad, the amount of oil avliable to the United States will be greater. But how are we going to bring oil to the United States in tankers across the Pacific Ocean, to say nothing of the Atlantic? What will the enemy's schnorkle submarines be doing to our tankers?

Internationalism can do great mischief when we move away from grandiose phrases and get down to hardpan.

Censorship Relaxed

Washington correspondents recall clearly the gathering in the Old State Department building, next to the White House, in late September of 1951 when the controversial "security" order issued by President Truman was read to newsmen by the late Joe Short, the President's press secretary. They remember the chorus of disbelief that rose when Mr. Short announced that all governmental agency and department heads would be given the power of classifying information within their purview according to the familiar military classifications.

The press has been fighting this order since its inception on two basic points. In the first place, the order was quite vague about what was "security" information, and what wasn't. Too, the executive order issued by Mr. Truman provided nothing in the way of an appeal board. Mr. Short, we recall, ad libbed an offer to serve as an appeal board when it became painfully clear that the framers of the order had overlooked it altogether.

Both these points have been dealt with specifically in the order issued by President Eisenhower. In addition, the power to classify information has been stripped away entirely from the heads of 28 agencies and places the responsibility for classification on the heads of 17 other agencies. The large executive agencies, such as Justice, Commerce, and the like, may name a classifying officer.

Perhaps the greatest improvement is the erasure of the "restricted" classification. Under the pretext of classifying certain data as harmful to national security, if released to the public, certain agencies had buried a wealth of material which should have been in the public domain. This classification was also a refuge for lazy governmental employes who didn't want to go to the trouble of digging out certain information.

Attorney General Brownell is correct when he says the old order enabled bureaucrats to hide blunders and derelictions of duty. Mr. Brownell feels that, in addition to correcting some obvious faults, the new order will permit a freer flow of information about the government without jeopardizing national security. The old order was definitely a form of censorship. In rescinding it the President has definitely advanced freedom of information.

Churchill Climbs Down

The latest Soviet note has convinced the State Department that the Russians are not interested in settling the German question at this time — or even talking about it. So, department thinking goes, there is no use writing any more notes about a conference. The only feasible course is to sit tight until the Russian mood changes. And that is Washington's prescription.

This sounds sensible. But will the governments of the countries allied with the U. S. agree. Or will they continue to exert pressure to get some kind of meeting going — as British Prime Minister Churchill did last May when he suggested a Big Three or Big Four conference at the head-of-state level? If they do, sitting tight will be uncomfortable.

No prediction is possible at this time, but it does seem safe to say that Prime Minister Churchill will not be pressing President Eisenhower to have a face-to-face talk with Premier Malenkov of Soviet Russia. For six months it has been Churchill's position that such a gathering could not do much harm and might do great good. Now he has changed his mind.

At the opening of Parliament the other day he contributed a few remarks after Queen Elizabeth had read the Speech from the Throne. They amounted to a defense of his efforts to arrange a top-level conference combined with an admission that it is time to give up the idea. He spoke of the risk that such a meeting would only make matters worse, said it would be folly to imagine that it could lead straightway to a general solution, and said that time will be needed for a settlement — "more time than some of us here are likely to see."

When he was using his great influence in behalf of a meeting of the Big Four chiefs of state, one explanation given for his insistence was that he hoped to crown his career with an understanding between Russia and the West that would mean a stable peace. Now he thinks that a settlement will not come in the way he had hoped.

New Information Policy

Editorial comment on the policy announced by President Eisenhower for the new United States Information Agency indicates a general agreement that improvement has been effected. As outlined by the National Security Council, it is a straightforward and simple program for presenting American objectives to the world.

What it amounts to is an attempt to identify American aims and objectives with those of freedom-loving peoples everywhere. The aim will be to convince those who may still not be sure of American motives that this country does not seek domination, but to insure a free world that offers opportunity for a wholesome life.

The USIA will tell its story factually, avoiding propaganda and maintaining emphasis on truth. But it is enjoined to be imaginative enough to foresee how the picture presented will affect those on the receiving end.

In making this new start, the USIA is given the chance to avoid the mistakes of its predecessors. Instead of picturing the abundance that marks America off from many other areas, it will concentrate on showing the things free men have in common.

Married Women Workers

It will come as a surprise to no observant person that more married women are employed today than ever before, but eyebrows will go up at the announcement by the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor that more than half of the 19,000,000 women workers outside their homes are married.

In 1940, when there were 12,000,000 women workers, one-third, or 4,000,000, were married. But while the number of employed women increased by about 58 per cent in 13 years, the married workers increased 137 per cent. Granted "the increasing need for women's work," which the Labor Department mentions, with the suggestion that perhaps it is due to the fact that there are more married women now, the change in proportion of married to unmarried workers is far from being explained.

Family living is on a higher plane, and it is difficult otherwise to account for the fact that 27 per cent of all the married women of the nation are in whole or part-time employment.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Social Misfits

The world is filled with maladjusted persons who have trouble conforming to the standards of modern society. They appear normal and usually live on what others provide. Some are asocial; others shiftless, ignorant, or lazy. They come from all walks of life and vary from the incompetent and spoiled sons of the rich to the bums on the street and from the well-dressed, social sponge to the hardened criminal.

When the New York psychiatrist, Dr. B. Liber, was a student in Paris, he had many opportunities to rub elbows with these individuals. There were the suave society types whose sole occupation was begging in a "noble" way. Also the artists who spent most of their time drinking and dreaming at a sidewalk cafe. They never painted because they were always waiting for an inspiration that never came. There were fellow students who came to the continent with the best intention to study but they did nothing about it.

Dr. Liber also cited the example of an unemployed engineer whose father was a brilliant college professor. He was married and content to live off the earnings of his wife. On several occasions he tried to work but could never develop enough enthusiasm to hold the job. He dressed well, appeared to be intelligent, and had refined tastes. He had decided a long time ago that he could never achieve success, and consequently was not frustrated when it did not materialize. He was a parasite of the first degree and when his wife finally left him he shrugged his shoulders and found another who was anxious to take him on as a sort of pet.

Such individuals are not interested in working. They are abnormally lazy because they are mentally maladjusted. Those who are the sons and daughters of wealthy individuals present a special problem because money enters the picture. Their parents have too much pride to admit that the youngster is incompetent to handle a large family fortune. In time, the majority are surrounded by charlatans, fakers, and other ne'er-do-wells. Their name and money also make attractive bait for useless organizations.

The immature delinquent also is a psychopathic personality. Some become criminals but the majority never break the law even though they exploit the public and feel no compunction in cheating or harming anyone whenever possible. These youngsters are antisocial and are convinced that ordinary social life is worthless. Examples include the "boss," the "fence," the "gambler," and "shady business man" who live a questionable existence yet never commit criminal offense. The teachings of the school, church, family, law, and community mean nothing to them. Some are normal mentally; others of low intelligence or psychopathic.

State Department Alarmed Over Trieste; U. S. Saves South Korean Officers From Purge; Japs Not Too Eager To Build Up Defense Force

WASHINGTON — Worried State Department officials admit privately that the fuse is burning shorter on the Trieste powder keg.

The Army is pressing to declare martial law in order to prevent additional bloodshed. However, the State Department fears this move would only heighten the tension.

What has the State Department really worried, however, is that our Trieste policy has driven Yugoslavia back to the strict neutralism it followed immediately after Marshal Tito's break with Russia.

This will mean that Yugoslavia's rugged army cannot be tied into Western defense plans. Up to now, Gen. Al Gruenther, the supreme commander in Europe, has counted Tito's forces as part of the 80 divisions he has reported can be mustered to meet a Russian attack.

Meanwhile, British-American intelligence has uncovered 20 Soviet agents working inside the rioting student groups. On the other side, Moscow agents have also been discovered on the Trieste police force. Their orders from the Kremlin have been to use brutality against the students in order to keep the trouble boiling.

The National Security Council will decide today whether to give up coaxing the aviation gas producers to expand their facilities. For several months, the government has been trying to persuade the private companies to increase their capacity for producing aviation gas. Now it looks as if the government will have to build the new plants itself.

Japan Doesn't Want Arms

Backstage conversations regarding the new Japanese army and navy make it quite clear that the Japanese government is not nearly as anxious to build up a defense force as the United States is to have it built.

In private conferences held in Japan, the Japanese government indicated it would like a navy of 300,000 tons, all small coastal craft; an army of 250,000 troops; and an air force of four wings, three to be F-84 fighter bombers and one to be F-86 jet intercepters.

The Pentagon agreed on the 300,000 naval tonnage, recommended a 300,000-man army and approved four air wings, except they should all be intercepters and no fighter-bombers. Specifically, the Air Force recommended 1,000 combat planes and 500 supporting planes, mostly trainers, for Japan.

However, Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida's special negotiator, Hayato Ikeda, threw a bombshell into the talks by asking for only 200,000 naval tonnage and no air force at all. Instead he advocated a long-range goal of 300,000 to 400,000 troops.

The final decision will probably depend on what policy the Eisenhower administration adopts toward Red China.

H-Bomb Deters War

Carleton Smith of the National Arts Foundation asked Premier Naguib of Egypt who he thought should get Arts Foundation prizes for service to humanity.

Naguib replied:

"The man who invents something which prevents war."

"Do you have any candidates?" asked Smith.

"Yes," replied Egypt's strong man. "The man who invented the H-bomb."

Reduced Air Force

It's not that Eisenhower, an old Army man, doesn't like the Air Force. He's just determined to balance the budget. At any rate it was he personally, and no one else, who blocked the Air Force from going to the 137 wings.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff had set 127 wings as the Air Force goal by July 1, 1956, but agreed to let Gen. Nat Twining, Air Force chief of staff, go one step further and appeal to the White House for 137 wings. Ike vetoed the plea immediately. It would take money out of next year's budget, he said.

Intense GOP Activity

The Republican National Committee, shaken by upsets in Wisconsin, Connecticut, New York and New Jersey, and worried over President Eisenhower's declining popularity, is planning the most high-powered congressional election campaign in history. . . . .They will concentrate on the marginal districts, using all the advertising gimmicks that worked so well in '52. . . . . The GOP National Committee will organize the regular Republicans, and the old Citizens for Eisenhower will be revived to campaign for the independent vote. This will be renamed the Citizens for Eisenhower Congressional Committee, and will try to run Eisenhower, in effect, in each congressional district. Ike himself, of course, won't openly stump the districts.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK (INS) — People, places, things . . .

John Foster Dulles has thrown out a hint or two that the U. S. is willing to give up its veto power in the United Nations, if, of course, Russia, Britain, France and Chiang Kai-Shek's China also will.

We will get no support in that field. The firmest opposition will come from Britain, whose delegation is said to reason: "We can't have all those little nations making big decisions committing us to do this or that in the world." If we did come forward with a clear-cut offer to dispense with the veto, and talked Britain into siding with us, there would still be Russia.

Russia, which casts a veto at the drop of a head, takes a real dim view of the 1955 conference to revise the U. N. charter. The chief monkey-wrench thrower in U. N. wants the world organization apparatus to remain exactly as it is. And, through the veto, has the power to wipe out any change which might be heartily endorsed by the 59 other nations.

In answer to an occasional query as to why the other nations in U .N. don't kick Russia out, let us say the Charter was phrased in such a way that every nation might want to expel Russia but Russia can say "niet," and stay a member in good standing just as long as she pleases. And Lew Lehr used to say monkeys, not people, are the cwaziest people!

In one great field of endeavor—the U. S. automotive industry — there is indeed change. And perennial progress. And few men have made more significant contributions to it in recent years than Raymond Loewy, design consultant of the postwar Studebaker.

Loewy works in a field where it is known to be better business to make changes in an evolutionary way than a revolutionary one. His chief contribution has been to speed up the evolution. Whenever he's asked "how do you know how far to go?" he answers with shattering simplicity, "I just happen to know."

Loewy feels that the industry grew to greatness on four big stepping stones: The self-starter ("a whole generation of people without muscles were freed to become drivers"), the closed car ("it made the automobile an automobile, not a version of a horse and buggy"), four-wheel brakes ("made high-powered, high-geared, high-speed automobiles practical") and automatic transmissions, which reduced the drudgery of driving.

He feels the next big step will be models that open the era of the American sportscar, not a copy of the cramped, cost-a-million European sportscar, but something fresh, new, safe, dependable and reasonably priced. Loewy would like to discard the name "sportscar" and get a new one.

"Coin a good name for the first American sportscars and the whole industry will be grateful," says the dashing designer.

There's going to be no depression, says the Lead Pencil Manufacturers Association. The group claims that whenever the pencil business is good, business in general is good. And the pencil business is bewilderingly good.

About 1,400,000,000 pencils will be sold this year. Biggest consumer is industry, next biggest school kids, and Uncle Sam comes third. There were some 350 kinds of pencils, including 17 different black leads alone. Queen Elizabeth I ruled the world's toughest pencil monopoly. She would permit England's great graphite mine to be worked only six weeks a year, and the ore was heavily guarded on its way to London.

Napoleon broke the monopoly. He ordered his scientists to find a substitute for the British graphite pencils, from which France had been cut off. One of his men came up with a mixture of cheap graphite and powdered clay, which he fired like a piece of pottery in a kiln. This remains the basic process used in making pencils throughout the world. Can't say what happened to Bess's graphite mine.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Some new expressions have become a part of the political vocabulary of the hour. It was supposed, for instance, to be "bad timing" and "low politics" for Attorney General Brownell—or at least so the Democratic national chairman says —to declare that, although Harry Dexter White was a "Rusian spy," he had been nominated in 1946 to a high post by former President Truman.

Apparently it wasn't "bad timing" or "low politics" for Robert F. Wagner Jr., successful Democratic candidate for mayor of New York City, to make a sweeping charge that an influential person, high in the Eisenhower administration, had asked Governor Dewey to parole Joseph S. Fay, labor leader convicted of extortion. Mr. Wagner, who received the plaudits of Mr. Truman when he was elected last week, had referred—without naming him—to one of Governor Dewey's "closest political associates on the national scene" and "a national figure whose every word and action carries tremendous weight throughout the country."

No Apology From Democrats

There was no complaint from the Democratic chieftains then that this was a smear attack, even though the plain inference was that the reference was to somebody in the Eisenhower cabinet—in fact, it was taken by many people to mean Attorney General Brownell, and rumor was that the incident happened when he was in private law practice. But Mr. Brownell promptly denied that he had at any time directly or indirectly interceded for Fay. Yet no apology came from the Democrats. The Wagner statement was never withdrawn.

Nor did it seem to be "low politics" from the standpoint of the Democratic national chairman last year to stand by and let former President Truman make campaign speeches which cast doubt on the integrity, if not the loyalty, of General Eisenhower. Instead, the Democrats enthusiastically cried out, "Give 'em hell, Harry."

Now the former President is on the receiving line of the give-'em-hell strategy, if indeed it is something political, and only in the interests of one party, to expose Communist spies and how they get promoted inside our government.

Mr. Truman's friends are arguing that it isn't dignified or right to subpoena a former President and that it would have been better to ask him to appear as a matter of volition. That would have been a desirable courtesy, but testimony under oath is sought from all witnesses when information of great importance to the nation is needed by congressional committees.

As for "courtesy," however, it will be recalled that Mr. Truman fired General MacArthur without a hearing and by a public message given to the radio. There wasn't much "courtesy" when he fired Admiral Denfeld. Both were fired for political reasons.

The former President ought to be the last to complain about the way the White controversy has developed. He himself first gave it momentum by saying he didn't recall the FBI report and that he "fired" White as soon as his disloyalty was discovered. The facts now turn out to be that there was quite a lot of fuss inside the administration about it and that at the time—February 1946—James F. Byrnes, then secretary of state and now governor of South Carolina, discussed the whole thing with Mr. Truman, saying he was well aware that the FBI had reported White to be a member of the Soviet espionage ring.

Why The Complimentary Letter?

A theory has been advanced that Mr. Truman may not have wanted to expose White at the time when the FBI report reached him, preferring to have the investigative process continued. There is no record of such a course of action in the Department of Justice. But even if this were so, then why did Mr. Truman on April 20, 1946, send such a complimentary letter to White when he resigned as assistant secretary of the treasury to take the post of U.S. director of the International Monetary Fund?

The most plausible explanation is that Mr. Truman, like so many people in his administration, was gullible and that someone in whom he did have confidence probably went to bat for White and flatly denied the truth of the charges.

It has been suggested also that Mr. Truman couldn't at that time —February 1946— determine the guilt or innocence of White, since there had been no trial or indictment. This is a widely held fallacy —for employment in the Government of the United States is not a right but a privilege. The FBI report had in it enough testimony to have brought about dismissal from the government. Today, although the president of Harvard University, for instance, says that refusal by a professor to testify before a congressional committee on the ground of self-incrimination is not a "confession of guilt" and hence does not merit dismissal by Harvard, President Eisenhower has ordered that any government employe who takes refuge in the Fifth Amendment and refuses to say whether he is a Communist or has been engaged in espionage must be instantly fired from the government service.

The record on Harry Dexter White was such that, had he come up today for appointment or continuance in office, the existing rules would have barred him from further employment. One wonders why it took so many years of public agitation concerning the blunders of the Truman administration to bring about the cleanup which the Eisenhower administration has just begun in response to a mandate from the people at the election a year ago.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Oil And Education

LOS ANGELES — Some of the oil-producing states, such as Texas and New Mexico, have tied their educational budget to the production of oil. The states generally receive a one-eighth royalty. If oil is plentifully produced, the schools are plentifully provisioned. The present general reduction in oil production (allowables, as it is called) is imperilling school budgets in those states.

The petroleum industry of Texas, for instance, provides 37.8 per cent of the available school fund; 54.4 per cent of the foundation school fund; and 58.5 per cent of the teacher's retirement fund. Obviously, a sharp reduction of oil production can cripple these funds. The present cut-down of allowables is attributed to the import of foreign oil in an over-extended world market, which became over-extended during the war years and has never adjusted to peacetime needs.

In California, there is a shortage of oil production, but there is no pipeline between California and West Texas and the adjacent oil producing areas. So Texas oil is shipped from Houston, through the Panama Canal, up to Los Angeles by tanker, a distance of 8,812 miles, which makes that oil too expensive for California. A pipeline would reduce the distance to 550 miles and is a less expensive way to move this product.

Oil for the West Coast comes from the Middle and Near East, Venezuela, Sumatra, Borneo, and from Texas in tankers. A recent development, not yet completed, is to bring oil from West Canada, by pipeline, to a refinery at Bellingham, Wash. Canadian production is in an early stage and does not yet amount to much; but the Canadians are hopeful that their fields will develop enormously and will expand far beyond Canada's capacity to consume oil, thus providing that country with another export product. Canada views its exports realistically, seeking always to develop a favorable trade balance.

The Texas oil men naturally raise the propagandistic argument that California consumers ought to prefer Texas to Canada, if for no other reason than they happen to be Americans just as the Californians are. That used to be a good argument about anything, but in these days of internationalism, it would seem to be a liability, because it is part of the current do-good policy to favor foreigners at the expense of Americans.

In fact, it has often been suggested in recent years that the way to solve this paradox of importing from abroad commodities of which we have much or even too much at home is to lower the tariff, to import plentifully from abroad and to give the American producer a dole. After all, the argument runs, we give a subsidy to the farmer not to produce, why not give the American businessman a subsidy not to produce? And why not give American labor a dole if it agrees not to work?

Some of those who are so enthusiastically supporting the dole idea for business that might become distressed because of easy imports into this country, fought bitterly against doles for other segments of the population in distress. Although mere consistency is not a virtue, the record ought to be stated.

The anti-social character of their argument should be obvious, but it is not to the internationalists who are more concerned about Jordan, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and Borneo than they are about Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Louisiana. It is a theory of self-flagellation in the economic field and produces a self-righteous glow among those enormously important businessmen whose investments are universal and whose interests know no nationality.

Also, we have learned in two wars what the submarine can do and now we need to add the efficient airplane and the atom bombs and atom guns to the submarine. Therefore it must be assumed that in time of war, our safest course is to be as self-sufficient as possible. Certainly we need not import oil. It might be argued that if production is reduced in the United States and is increased abroad, the amount of oil avliable to the United States will be greater. But how are we going to bring oil to the United States in tankers across the Pacific Ocean, to say nothing of the Atlantic? What will the enemy's schnorkle submarines be doing to our tankers?

Internationalism can do great mischief when we move away from grandiose phrases and get down to hardpan.

A somber note was added to the service when the parents of a Cumberland Navy pilot received his medals posthumously.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones, Jane Frazier Village, received the citations and awards of their son, the late Lt. Cmdr. Charles M. Jones, from Lt. Cmdr. W. E. Woodson, commander of the Cumberland Naval Reserve Training Center.

Lt. Cmdr. Jones was killed July 20 while piloting a jet plane over enemy territory in North Korea.

Clergymen Offer Prayers

This part of the service, said Thomas B. Finan, master of ceremonies, expressed the idea behind the American Legion's sponsoring Armistice Day, remembering those who fought and those who died for their country.

The invocation given by Rabbi Joseph Schimelman of Beth Jacob Congregation, called for the world to take heed the lessons learned in past wars.

In his prayer for the dead, Rev. John U. Lyness, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, asked that they "not be delivered into the hands of the enemy, but rather into Paradise."

Rev. J. Fred Zimmerman, pastor of First Congregational Church, Frostburg who had the benediction, called for comfort for the families of lost ones.

Iser Being Held For Action Of Grand Jury

A Cumberland man was ordered held under $1,000 bond Tuesday in Hagerstown for grand jury action on charges of breaking and entering and larceny.

Howard Maurice Iser, 36, of 205 Mary Street, is accused of stealing $350 in cash and cigarets last March 15 from South's Tavern on North Potomac Street there.

Iser's arrest at his local home Monday came after two Hub City police officers secured key information from independent sources at about the same time.

A former Fairchild employe, the prisoner was furloughed with the last group laid off due to production cutbacks.

Hagerstown authorities said the burglary was staged a short time after Ned South, owner of the tavern, left the place. Entrance was gained by smashing a rear basement window and reaching the tavern proper through a beer chute.

Keys to the cash register also were reported missing.

Lt. Fred Kisner of the Hagerstown Police Department, said the grand jury is now in session. Iser was returned to that city yesterday for questioning by the State's Attorney's office and detectives.

Ridgeley School Problems To Be Aired

Haven L. Idelman, superintendent of Mineral county public schools, will discuss recent complaints of crowded and hazardous conditions at the Ridgeley High and Elementary School at a meeting of the Ridgeley High and Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association at the high school today at 8 p. m.

A strike was threatened at the school last month following the transfer of a teacher from the Elementary School faculty to the staff at Wiley Ford School. Immediate drastic action was headed off, however, when irate members of the association were persuaded to await the outcome of a formal protest lodged with county and state education officials.

The passing of several weeks brought no satisfactory reply to the association's complaints, it was learned, and delegation representing the group called on Superintendent Idleman in Keyser last week. It was at this time that arrangements were made for the superintendent to attend today's meeting.

Last month's transfer of the teacher, reducing the Ridgeley staff from its usual eight instructors to seven, brought bitter protests from several parents at the October meeting, it being pointed out that the action added to the already teacher and room load at the school.

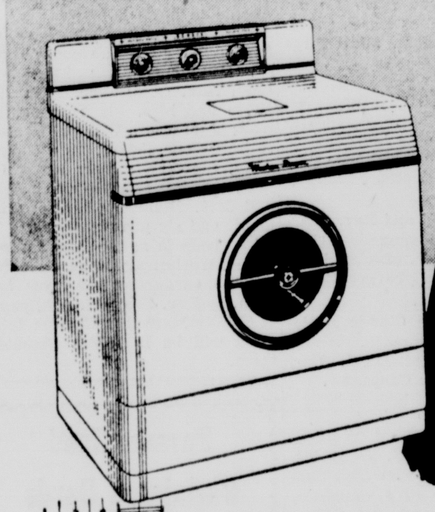

Figures were quoted to show that the Ridgeley teacher - room load is greater than that at the more modern Wiley Ford School which has larger rooms and adequate fire protection facilities.

Reference was made during the discussion that hazardous fire conditions at Ridgeley have been called to the attention of county school officials several times in recent years, with no satisfactory improvements being made.

One of America's greatest naval heroes, John Paul Jones, became a rear admiral in the Russian service and fought against the Turks in 1788.

Ridgeley School Problems To Be Aired

Haven L. Idelman, superintendent of Mineral county public schools, will discuss recent complaints of crowded and hazardous conditions at the Ridgeley High and Elementary School at a meeting of the Ridgeley High and Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association at the high school today at 8 p. m.

A strike was threatened at the school last month following the transfer of a teacher from the Elementary School faculty to the staff at Wiley Ford School. Immediate drastic action was headed off, however, when irate members of the association were persuaded to await the outcome of a formal protest lodged with county and state education officials.

The passing of several weeks brought no satisfactory reply to the association's complaints, it was learned, and delegation representing the group called on Superintendent Idleman in Keyser last week. It was at this time that arrangements were made for the superintendent to attend today's meeting.

Last month's transfer of the teacher, reducing the Ridgeley staff from its usual eight instructors to seven, brought bitter protests from several parents at the October meeting, it being pointed out that the action added to the already teacher and room load at the school.

Figures were quoted to show that the Ridgeley teacher-room load is greater than that at the more modern Wiley Ford School which has larger rooms and adequate fire protection facilities.

Reference was made during the discussion that hazardous fire conditions at Ridgeley have been called to the attention of county school officials several times in recent years, with no satisfactory improvements being made.

One of America's greatest naval heroes, John Paul Jones, became a rear admiral in the Russian service and fought against the Turks in 1788.

Md. Legislative Council Hears Plea For 165 More Troopers

Col. Munshower Cites Financial Toll In Accidents

BALTIMORE, Nov. 11 (AP) — Maryland's Legislative Council today heard a plea for adding 165 troopers to the State Police force to combat the "terrible calamity" of death and destruction on the highways.

"It comes down to this," declared Col. Elmer F. Munshower, superintendent of State Police. "Do you want to pay out money to prevent accidents and save lives? Or do you want to pay out money in medical expenses and damages? You have to pay it out one way or the other."

His sentiments were seconded by Paul E. Burke, director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, and Henry Barnes, Baltimore's new traffic director. They agreed "the more troopers the fewer accidents."

They spoke at a luncheon which the commission gave for members of the legislative panel which studies proposals for new laws between sessions of the General Assembly.

Analysis Presented

Burke presented an analysis of the National Safety Council which showed Maryland needs 165 more state troopers.

Col. Munshower pointed out he has asked for 130 additional men in his budget request for the fiscal year which begins next July.

His department now is authorized to have 281 uniformed troopers but hasn't been able to fill 15 of the jobs. Another 50 men or so are assigned to administrative, communications, vehicle maintenance, and detective work—leaving about 215 for direct highway patrolling and law enforcement work.

Burke said the analysis showing the state needs 165 more troopers is conservative and he had another set of figures which indicated the increase should be 200.

He based this on the number of motor vehicles operating in the state and the number of accidents reported in 1952.

"The financial loss in the terrible calamity of Maryland's 1952 highway accidents far exceeds the 50 million dollar loss in the great Baltimore fire in 1904," Burke said, "and that doesn't take into consideration the 528 killed and the 14,071 injured on the highways.

2,866 Killed In Five Years

"If these accidents had all happened at one time, the Legislature would have been called into special session, Congress would have been over to Baltimore to investigate, the Red Cross would be here to help. Yet, year after year, it continues."

Burke said 2,866 have been killed and 72,098 injured on Maryland's street and highways in the past five years. He estimated the economic loss at 269 million dollars, not counting medical care for the injured and repair of damaged vehicles.

Maryland has licensed 950,942 motor vehicles in the current year, he reported, and within the past two years 323,570 new driver's licenses have been issued.

The entire state of Delaware, with three counties, patrols its highways with about 160 state troopers, Burke reported. Eight counties on Maryland's Eastern Shore have about 40 troopers.

Burke also suggested a doubling of traffic fines as the source of revenue to pay for additional troopers.

BISHOP PRAYS—Bishop Homer A. Tomlinson, of New York, general overseer of the Church of God, kneels in prayer on his overcoat in front of the Terminal Station as he arrived in Atlanta, Ga., yesterday dressed in Arabic attire. The bishop prayed for the "happy days when Judah and Islam and Christians, all counting themselves sons of one father, Abraham, and my brother Milton and I, may be united in the common good." His brother ordered the bishop arrested Oct. 28 after he attempted to destroy the stone shrine of the Ten Commandments on Burger Mountain near Murphy N. C.

Goldstein Urges Office Building Secrecy Inquiry

BALTIMORE, Nov. 11 (AP) — A demand for an inquiry into the dickering for a site for a 10-million dollar State Office Building in Baltimore was taken up and nudged along a step by Maryland's Legislative Council today.

The complaint against secrecy was referred to the Council's Budget and Finance Committee.

"It should be looked into at once," declared State Sen. Louis L. Goldstein (D-Calvert) when it appeared for a time the demand for an inquiry might get but routine handling.

Speaker John Luber, who is chairman of the budget and finance committee, wasn't present at the Council session to set up the next step.

Committee members and the Council staff were commissioned to contact him about a plan for action.

The next meeting of the committee, under the present schedule, isn't until Dec. 1.

The General Assembly in 1952 authorized a 10 million dollar State Office Building in Baltimore and another to cost three million in Annapolis.

Gov. McKeldin's administration has been dickering with the city to clear out decrepit buildings around the Fifth Regiment Armory in Baltimore, with Federal slum clearance aid, and turn the land over to the state for the office building.

Recently the governor announced the State had given up on this idea and was considering two other sites, one of them in the northwest part of Baltimore away from the downtown area.

Del. A. Gordon Boone (D-Balto), who was chairman of the House ways and means committee at the 1952 legislative session, made the formal demand for the inquiry.

He pointed out his committee sponsored and the House passed a resolution at the 1952 session directing that State officials give the Legislative Council periodic reports on their progress in getting the buildings started.

"So far, nothing has been submitted," said Boone in his letter to the Council.

$2,400 In Cash Is Found Under Dead Man's Socks

BALTIMORE, Nov. 11 (AP)—Police said today $2,400 in cash was found under three layers of socks worn by a Bridgeport, Conn., man who died suddenly here yesterday.

The money, in $100 and $50 bills, was found when the body of 60-year-old Spiro Mborja was taken to the morgue for an autopsy to determine the cause of his death.

Mborja fainted in the lobby of the Emerson Hotel and was pronounced dead at Mercy Hospital. He had been a guest at the hotel since Saturday.

Sobeloff Appointment Report Noted By Bar

BALTIMORE, Nov. 11 (AP) — The Baltimore City Bar Association has asked Gov. McKeldin if he wants the bar committee to prepare a list of recommendations for an expected vacancy on the state's Court of Appeals.

The letter, written by Association President Reuben Oppenheimer, took note of reports that Chief Judge Simon Sobeloff was in line for appointment as solicitor general of the United States.

McKeldin Says "12 Other Reds" Named By FBI

BALTIMORE, Nov. 11 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin said tonight an FBI report on Harry Dexter White which went to the White House in 1945 named "at least 12 other Communists" who were working for Russia in the Truman administration.

In a speech prepared for delivery before a Republican dinner here, McKeldin said:

"But Mr. Truman did nothing about them until the administration was forced to act by congressional committees."

He said the White case would make it "very difficult indeed to avoid the conclusion that that power-crazy conglomeration of curmudgeons would stoop to anything —including cooperation with Communists— to cement the absoluteness of their dynasty."

He called on fellow Republicans and "loyal Democrats who have not accepted the usurpers of their party's proud heritage" to continue the fight against "the enemy of our way of life."

He said the recent Republican election losses in other parts of the country shows the need for continued party unity in Maryland.

The common house fly has six legs.

M'Keldin Backed For Reelection

BALTIMORE, Nov. 11 (AP)—Maryland's Republican organization today endorsed Gov. McKeldin for reelection next year.

The action was taken before the governor had made any formal announcement of his candidacy and long before the party primary next June. It came at a meeting of the Republican State Central Committee.

The endorsement called for the election next year of Edward D. E. Rollins, McKeldin's attorney general.

The committee resolution praised McKeldin for giving the state a 12-year highways overhaul program and aiding the schools.

The resolution said the highway program ended years of haphazard planning.

Rollins was appointed attorney general when Hall Hammond was elevated to the Court of Appeals not long after his election as attorney general in 1950. Hammond is a Democrat, as is the state comptroller, J. Millard Tawes. Their party grabbed off two of the state's three top elective jobs when McKeldin won the governorship in 1950.

The French are credited with inventing the first bicycle.

Increase In Milk, Butterfat Production Cited In Report

An increase in the production of the number of pounds of milk and butterfat in October over September was noted in a report of the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

A total of 916 cows were tested during the period according to Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, supervisors. The average production of all cows in October was 530 pounds of milk; 22.3 pounds of butterfat, with a 4.21 per cent butterfat.

During September when 897 cows were tested, the results were 524 pounds of milk; 21.4 pounds of butterfat and a butterfat percentage of 4.08.

Crip, a Holstein, owned by Chelsie A. Liller, Cresaptown, produced 1350 pounds of milk and 73 pounds of butterfat to lead the ten highest cows for butterfat production last month.

A Holstein, No. 110, belonging to Samuel L. Pinto, Ridgeley, produced 1570 pounds of milk, 69 pounds of butterfat; a Guernsey, Mabel, owned by Ernest A. Light, Pinto, produced 1400 pounds of milk, 69 pounds of butterfat.

Other high producers included: a Holstein, No. 13, owned by A. E. and D. W. Light, Pinto, 1460 milk, 67 butterfat; No. 232136, Holstein, belonging to John T. Mason, 1730 milk, 66 butterfat; Royal Beauty Homestead, 2862645, a Holstein, owned by Shumaker Brothers, Rawlings, 1240 milk and 65 butterfat.

No. 140827, Holstein, belonging to John T. Mason, 1470 milk, 62 butterfat; Babe, Holstein, owned by Howard D. Llewellyn, 1610 milk, 61 butterfat; Gladheart Echo Carolina, 2558338, Holstein, owned by John T. Mason, 1570 milk, 61 butterfat.

No. 140831, Holstein, also belonging to Mason, produced 1460 milk and 61 pounds of butterfat.

New Bus Schedule Does Not Affect Run For Workers

The new bus schedules which go into effect Saturday on several city routes do not interfere with a regular Bowmans Addition run designed to get men to work for the 3 p. m. shift at local plants, Guy M. Davis, owner of the Cumberland Transit Lines, announced yesterday.

The bus leaves Baltimore Street at 2 p. m., arrives in Bowmans Addition at 2:15 p. m. and returns to town to allow workers to report for the second shift. The bus, he said, has been in operation for some time and will not be disturbed by the change which provides additional service on the route between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.

The run was not listed in the first schedules mimeographed early this week and listed in yesterday's News. Davis said the schedules which will be available on the buses and at Schwarzenbach's are being corrected to include the afternoon industrial run.

Sisters Are Reported In Good Condition

Two teen-age sisters who reside in Franklin, W. Va., are reported in good condition at Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, where they were admitted following a car mishap in which they sustained broken jaws.

Joan Lambert, 15, and Dorothy Lambert, 11, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Lambert, were riding in a car owned and operated by Paul Klare.

The auto failed to negotiate a curve and crashed into a tree along the highway in Franklin.

Treated at the hospital for head lacerations was John Arthur, another passenger in the auto.

Ben-Gurion's Party To Accept Resignation

TEL AVIV, Israel, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Mapai Labor party decided tonight to accept the resignation of Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion after he rejected all appeals to remain in office.

Ben-Gurion announced last week that he wanted to give up all his cabinet responsibilities, including the Defense Ministry, because of "mental strain."

The 68-year old leader is slated to leave soon for a collective village in southern Israel where he plans to write a book and pursue his hobby—the study of history and ancient languages.

Police Commended For Solving Thefts From Truck Firm

An official of Harris Motor Express, Inc., of Martinsburg, W. Va., has written to Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn to commend the City Police for their work in helping to solve a series of thefts from the line's Cumberland terminal.

William C. Irving, vice president of the firm, said his company wanted particularly to thank Detective Lt. James E. Van and Detective Roy C. Hawse for their work, which led to arrest of three suspects and recovery of stolen goods.

"It is indeed gratifying," wrote Irving, "to have such . . . cooperation and protection." He called their work "a job well done."

Murray Would Invite Russians To H-Test

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 11 (AP)—An Atomic Energy Commissioner suggested today the United States should consider inviting foreign observers to a hydrogen bomb test.

Commissioner Thomas E. Murray declared that "first-hand experiencing of mammoth atomic explosions is an essential qualification for future negotiators of the great survival issues."

Murray offered the idea in an address prepared for delivery at Duquesne University. He warned of the mutual destruction which waits on "the road ahead" if nations engage in atomic war.

Girl, 13, Missing

The parents of a 13-year-old girl last night told City Police their daughter had been missing since Sunday evening.

Police were asked to look for Joanne Twigg, who left her home on Golden Lane, off Willowbrook Road, sometime Sunday evening. A neighbor said she was seen getting into a car bearing West Virginia license tags.

The girl is five feet tall and weighs 100 pounds. When last seen she was wearing a brown jacket and blue jeans.

Close behind came members of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion; Legion 35-year-members in cars, and members of the the post auxiliary. Following was an Auxiliary Police Rescue Squad vehicle with public address system in behalf of the Allegany County Heart Association.

The bucket brigade, made up of members from the Forty and Eight, collected $152.15 for the Heart Association during the parade.

At the end of the review was the colorful Moose Toonerville Band, dressed in farmer-type straw hats and overalls. The group rode the back of a truck and turned out music all the way through the parade route.

The Mayor and City Council witnessed the parade from a reviewing stand at City Hall on Centre Street. Also on the stand were the Gold Star Mothers, members of veterans organizations and representatives from the Navy Reserve and National Guard.

Legion officials reviewing the parade were Edward Walter, Cambridge, Maryland department commander; Frank Powers, Frostburg, national Legion executive, and James McNeil, Frostburg, district vice commander.

Important Farm Papers Can Be Kept Safely In The Home

Farm papers which are used consistantly but are too valuable to risk losing as well as those too bulky to be placed in a regular safe deposit vault can be safely kept in a fireproof homemade storage box in the basement of the home.

This type of storage for farm records that should be available for quick review is highly recommended by Ray W. Carpenter, extension agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland.

The materials needed for the homemade storage box are a sheet metal or wood box large enough to hold the papers, and a sheet metal box which must be large enough to leave at least 8 to 12 inches between it and the inside box on all sides. The space between the boxes is filled with rock wool insulation, Carpenter said.

"Such a box, stored in the basement of the house, will withstand any heat likely to result in the burning of the property," says the university engineer. Animal pedigrees, production cropping systems, sales records and other farm papers can be safely kept in the box.

A small quantity of calcium chloride in an open container inside the box will overcome the effects of dampness, according to Carpenter. He warns, however, that the calcium chloride must be replaced or dried out when it gets saturated.

DO . . . Prescriptions Cost Too Much?

There's another way of putting this question. You can also ask—how much should you pay for a miracle?

Before the discovery of the wonder drugs like penicillin, the sulfas and others, many common illnesses were genuine family tragedies. Two examples were influenza, and pneumonia.

When either of these struck, the family breadwinner was off the job a long time. And sometimes permanently.

Million-dollar laboratories are working day and night to bring you and your doctor new discoveries in drugs that will make you well, keep you well. To you and everyone, that means less off-the-job-time, fewer deaths, longer life.

Any prescription that helps to accomplish that for you is a reasonable investment . . . isn't it?

Most drugs cost very little—thanks to American business volume and American competition, both of which keep prices low.

Our fellow-scientist, the doctor, knows as we do that the miracle drugs do cost a little more, but a miracle, after all, is worth much more than dollars. Your doctor believes that. We do. Don't you?

Dykes Named Orioles Pilot; Worden Wins International

Former A's Manager Gets Marion Post

Baltimore Club Buys Jimmy For One-Year Contract

BALTIMORE, Nov. 11 (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles today fired Marty Marion as manager and called in Jimmy Dykes of the Philadelphia Athletics to manage the city's new team in the American League.

Dykes himself had been turned out as manager of the A's only last week in favor of shortstop Eddie Joost and was to continue with the Philadelphia club in some advisory capacity. He had managed the team three seasons, finishing fourth in 1952 for his best year.

Familiar With Work

General Manager Art Ehlers, in replacing Marion with Dykes is bringing to Baltimore a man with whose work he became familiar while Ehlers headed the Athletics front office.

Ehlers said Marion was being released outright with still a year to go on his $30,000 a year contract as manager. That makes two unpaid former St. Louis Browns managers on the Orioles payroll. Rogers Hornsby, former Browns manager who was furloughed by Bill Veeck in favor of Marion, is still drawing a salary.

Dykes managed the Athletics for three seasons after taking over the club's reins from Connie Mack, who was the only previous A's field boss and who held that job for 50 years before his retirement in 1950.

He took over an eighth place club in 1950, lifted it to sixth in 1951 and then pulled it up to a fourth place finish in 1952. But this past season, the A's—plagued by numerous injuries, particularly to star lefthander Bobby Shantz and shortstop Eddie Joost—dropped to seventh. Joost last week replaced Dykes as manager of the club.

Former All-Star Player

At the time of Joost's appointment, it was announced that the club owners would be happy to have Dykes remain in the organization in an advisory capacity, taking over some of the duties left vacant when Ehlers became general manager of the Orioles.

Dykes was manager of the Chicago White Sox for 13 years, beginning in 1934—nearly half of that time as a playing pilot. He was replaced by Ted Lyons in 1946 and moved to the West Coast to manage the Hollywood club in the Pacific Coast League. In 1949, he joined the A's as a coach.

Dykes, who was 57 yesterday, broke into organized baseball in 1917 with Gettysburg, Pa. and went to the A's the following year. He stayed with the A's until 1932, except for one season with Atlanta—1919.

He played third base on the 1933 American League All-Star team.

Leading Shuffle Clubs To Clash Here Tonight

Four of the leading contenders in the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League race will be seen in action in matches here tonight.

Cumberland's Knights of Columbus, tied with the Frostburg K. of C. for the runner-up spot at 14-7, two full games off the pace, host the Hi-Dee Club which is only four games out of first place.

The Frostburg K. of C. visits the Purple Heart Club and the Cumberland V.F.W., three games out of first place, engages Cas Taylor's at the V.F.W. Home.

Stadium Inn, the league leader, will entertain Frostburg Golden Nugget at the Inn, Mike Miller's of Frostburg visits the Cumberland Amvets, Fisher and Robinette goes to Frostburg for a match with the American Legion and the Mt. Savage V.F.W. hosts Hann's Tavern.

Friday night the Woodmen of the World are at the Goodfellowship Club.

Second County Deer Is Slain On Green Ridge

The second deer kill to be reported in Allegany County during the bow and arrow season was checked on Green Ridge, site of the kill, yesterday by District Game Warden Theodore Thoerig, Mt. Savage.

Harry E. Thorn, Takoma Park, got the 101-pound doe with an arrow while hunting in a party of four which included James Elkins, Robert Comstock and Arlington Comstock, all of Bethesda.

The deer ran into the state game refuge and Lester Roberts, caretaker, was called in to help the men track the animal down and report the kill.

The first deer slain by an archer during the present season was reported by an 18-year-old Silver Spring youth last Sautrday. The season closes Saturday, November 14, for archers.

Thoerig warned last night that hunters using bow and arrows are not permitted to carry firearms in the woods with them during the bow and arrow season.

Carter Scores KO Over Savoie To Retain Title

Lightweight Champ Wins In 5th Round

MONTREAL, Nov. 11 (AP)—Sturdy Jimmy Carter wrecked another "home town boy" challenger for his lightweight title tonight when he knocked out Montreal's Armand Savoie in 59 seconds of the fifth round with one whistling right to the jaw.

Dropped flat on his back from the force of Carter's payoff wallop, the 23-year-old Savoie gamely tried to beat the count. He was able to scramble to his hands and knees as Referee Tom Sullivan counted nine and 10.

Both fighters were cut around the left eye in the fourth round when Carter started to press his attack after letting Savoie take the lead in the early rounds.

Bombing to the body with both hands, the 29-year-old champ from New York set up the knockout. As Carter lunged to the attack with the crushing right hand, Savoie's shiny title dream was ended.

It was the third successful defense this year for Carter, a 3 to 1 favorite, who also stopped Tommy Collins and George Araujo earlier.

The same three judges who gave Savoie a non-title split decision over the champ last February officiated tonight. They weren't needed. Carter carried his own judges in his right fist.

A crowd estimated at 10,000 turned out at the Montreal Forum for the city's first championship bout since 1931.

ELKINS, W. Va., Nov. 11—Delton Mullennax's plunge for the tying extra point in the final minute of play failed and Elkins' High's Tigers edged the Parsons Panthers here today by a 26-25 score in the final 1953 football game for both teams.

The triumph gave Coach Frank Wimer's eleven a .500 record with five wins and as many losses while Bob Sullivan's visiting Panthers closed a 3-6 campaign.

The game was a see-saw scorefest with first one and then the other of the two teams leading before Elkins pushed over two fourth period touchdowns to win. Parsons' final six-pointer was scored with about a minute to play but the point try missed and Elkins ran time out to win.

The two elevens combined to rush and pass the ball almost 600 yards in the game. Parsons scored first when Delton Mullennax raced around right end for 20 yards and the score. The point try missed.

The Tigers came right back with a 63-yard drive, climaxed by Weese's four-yard plunge for the score. Weese passed to Robinson for the point and the home team led 7-6 at the quarter.

A 40-yard pass from Delton Mullennax to Terry Fairbanks put Parsons in front once more as the scoring play ended a 75-yard Panther advance. Late in the second stanza Weese picked up a Parsons fumble and raced 40 yards for an Elkins score and it was 13-12 Tigers at halftime.

The Panthers once more forged ahead when Jim Bowley raced 15 yards for a third quarter tally and Delton Mullennax then passed to Bowley for the point and it was 19-13 Parsons.

The two fourth period Elkins scores came on a 30-yard pass from Weese to Wright in the end zone and a Weese to Robinson aerial for 40 and the six-pointer. Weese's plunge for the extra point following the fourth touchdown proved the deciding point.

A 65-yard pass from D. Mullennax to Fairbanks, caught on the 30 and run over, in the final minute gave Parsons its last score. The lineups:

Harold Hudson Of LaSalle Is Named Back Of The Week

Top Scorer Stars Against Ridgeley

Harold Hudson, 16-year-old junior became LaSalle High's third backfield ace to be chosen Back of the Week by the Knights of Columbus selection committee.

The eighth back selected this year in 10 weeks Hudson was picked for his stellar play against the Ridgeley Blackhawks last Thursday when LaSalle chalked up its sixth triumph 24-0.

Hudson, who is currently the leading scorer in the city with 48 points, started the Explorers on their way to victory with a 19-yard romp for the first touchdown in the opening moments of the game. He later was instrumental in setting up another LaSalle score with his hard running and played an excellent defensive game.

His play got him the call over teammate Bobby Christ who picked up 167 yards against Ridgeley and Halfback Eddie Joyce of Allegany who was outstanding in the Campers' win over Elkins Saturday.

The LaSalle fullback joins Christ and Denny Shuck of the Explorers as well as Bib Kirtley and Joyce of Allegany; and Stanley Teets, Earl Grove and Bob Andrews of Fort Hill for the selections. Both Kirtley and Teets have received the honor twice this season.

In pacing the city scorers Hudson has collected 48 points, following by Christ with 42 and Dick Rank of Allegany with 41 in the tight battle for leading honors. Christ is defending champion having copped the title last year.

All three will play again on Thanksgiving Day when LaSalle visits Beall at Frostburg and Allegany and Fort Hill clash in the Turkey Day classic at the local stadium.

Penn Tackle Gets AP Lineman Nod

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Big Jack Shanafelt, University of Pennsylvania tackle, was named The Associated Press Lineman of the Week today for his superb play against Notre Dame.

Big Jack led the Penn linemen in the torrid battle on Franklin Field that saw the Ivy Leaguers throw a fright into the unbeaten and untied Irish before losing 28-20.

There is a former member of the Chicago Black Hawks on every team in the National Hockey League.

Lattner Named Back Of Week

Standout Play Makes Irish No. 1 Team

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 11 (AP)—It becomes more and more evident that without halfback Johnny Lattner, today named the Associated Press Back of the Week, Notre Dame wouldn't be the nation's No. 1 college football team.

Lattner won the weekly honor by his stirring performance in Notre Dame's 28-20 victory over Penn last Saturday. After Penn scored first, rugged Johnny took the ensuing kickoff and ran 92 yards for a touchdown.

Then he raced 32 yards on a punt return and stole a pass from two Penn defenders to set up another Irish touchdown. Further warming up, Lattner streaked 56 yards with another kickoff to shove Notre Dame towards its third touchdown.

But perhaps his most important play came on defense. With Penn in hot pursuit of a fourth touchdown, Lattner wrested a goal line Penn pass from Quaker Bob Felver's hands.

That has been Lattner's forte throughout the season. When the going gets tough for the Irish, Johnny moves into action.

Besides Lattner, Stanford's Bob Garrett, Jimmy Wade of Tennessee, Larry Grigg of Oklahoma and Bobby Cavazos of Texas Tech were mentioned prominently as Back of the Week candidates.

Class B Champions Have 3 Regulars Back

WESTERNPORT, Nov. 11 — Coach Augie Eichhorn's Class B basketball champions at Bruce High School will open their 1953-54 cage season December 3 at Hyndman, Pa. The Bulldogs will play a 21-game slate.

Three regulars of last year's team which captured the Class B state title and won 21 games while losing 4 will return to form the nucleus of the present squad, Eichhorn said. Bruce will play home-and-home games with Hyndman, Fort Ashby, LaSalle, Oakland and Piedmont in addition to 10 Western Maryland Interscholastic League contests. An Alumni tilt December 29 will round out the schedule.

Bruce closed the season last year with five straight victories including triumphs over Middletown, 67-39, Elkton, 51-31, and Arundel, 59-51 in the state finals. Among the squad's wins was a 79-75 thriller from Allegany's Class A runnersup.

Eichhorn has called his first practice for the new year November 16 and expects a large turnout for initial drills. The schedule:

10-1 French Horse Takes Laurel Race

Record Crowd Sees Colt Win $50,000; Admiral Runs Last

LAUREL, Md., Nov. 11 (AP)—Worden, a French horse owned by a Pennsylvanian now living abroad, flashed into the lead with a bit more than an eighth of a mile to go to run away today with the colorful $65,000 Washington, D. C., International before a roaring record crowd of 31,100 at Laurel Park.

The invader from across the Atlantic, a 4-year-old chestnut son of Wild Risk-Sans Tares, owned by Ralph Beaver Strassburger, Norristown, Pa., Newspapers publisher, defeated nine other stars from six nations in the mile and one half classic.

Smirke Rides Winner

Cheeky Charlie Smirke, considered the top jockey in Europe, bided his time with the 15 to 1 shot, then sped down the infield grass course in a final burst that sent him under the wire a six length victor over Iceberg II, an American-owned horsebred in Chile.

Iceberg II defeated the Brookmeade Stable's Sunglow, an American contender, by three lengths, while another French horse, Paul Dubosco's Silnet, was in fourth place another half length away.

Robert Boucher's Wilwyn, the British horse who won the Laurel International last year, finished ninth, while the Charfran Stable's Crafty Admiral—the 2 to 1 favorite—finished 10th and last after leading in the early part of the race.

Worden, who collects a $50,000 purse for his brilliant victory was to have come here last year for the International running of the race. Last minute plane trouble developed, and Worden stayed home.

Closed Racing Career

But it was no mistake to come across the big drink this time, as Worden closed out his racing career with a blaze of glory. He goes to the stud in France.

Worden paid $33.80, $14.20, and $9.00, which may have surprised most of those in the jam-packed Armistice Day crowd. The French, British and Irish visitors have been saying Worden would win it all week—even before the big blizzard of last week which caused a postponement of the event originally scheduled for Saturday. Iceberg II paid $7.40 and $5.60, and Sunglow, $5.20. Last year Ruhe finished second, only American in the first four.

Today's race also marked the final appearance of Crafty Admiral, Silnet and Wilwyn, who will go to the stud in their countries.

Officials To Meet

The Western Maryland and Eastern West Virginia International Board of Approved Basketball Officials will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at Central YMCA. Bobby Cavanaugh of Fort Hill will preside and new rules will be discussed as the group organizes for the winter cage campaign.

Dykes Named Orioles Pilot; Worden Wins International

Former A's Manager Gets Marion Post

Baltimore Club Buys Jimmy For One-Year Contract

BALTIMORE, Nov. 11 (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles today fired Marty Marion as manager and called in Jimmy Dykes of the Philadelphia Athletics to manage the city's new team in the American League.

Dykes himself had been turned out as manager of the A's only last week in favor of shortstop Eddie Joost and was to continue with the Philadelphia club in some advisory capacity. He had managed the team three seasons, finishing fourth in 1952 for his best year.

Familiar With Work

General Manager Art Ehlers, in replacing Marion with Dykes is bringing to Baltimore a man with whose work he became familiar while Ehlers headed the Athletics front office.

Ehlers said Marion was being released outright with still a year to go on his $30,000 a year contract as manager. That makes two unpaid former St. Louis Browns managers on the Orioles payroll. Rogers Hornsby, former Browns manager who was furloughed by Bill Veeck in favor of Marion, is still drawing a salary.

Dykes managed the Athletics for three seasons after taking over the club's reins from Connie Mack, who was the only previous A's field boss and who held that job for 50 years before his retirement in 1950.

He took over an eighth place club in 1950, lifted it to sixth in 1951 and then pulled it up to a fourth place finish in 1952. But this past season, the A's—plagued by numerous injuries, particularly to star lefthander Bobby Shantz and shortstop Eddie Joost—dropped to seventh. Joost last week replaced Dykes as manager of the club.

Former All-Star Player

At the time of Joost's appointment, it was announced that the club owners would be happy to have Dykes remain in the organization in an advisory capacity, taking over some of the duties left vacant when Ehlers became general manager of the Orioles.

Dykes was manager of the Chicago White Sox for 13 years, beginning in 1934—nearly half of that time as a playing pilot. He was replaced by Ted Lyons in 1946 and moved to the West Coast to manage the Hollywood club in the Pacific Coast League. In 1949, he joined the A's as a coach.

Dykes, who was 57 yesterday, broke into organized baseball in 1917 with Gettysburg, Pa. and went to the A's the following year. He stayed with the A's until 1932, except for one season with Atlanta—1919.

He played third base on the 1933 American League All-Star team.

Second County Deer Is Slain On Green Ridge

The second deer kill to be reported in Allegany County during the bow and arrow season was checked on Green Ridge, site of the kill, yesterday by District Game Warden Theodore Thoerig, Mt. Savage.

Harry E. Thorn, Takoma Park, got the 101-pound doe with an arrow while hunting in a party of four which included James Elkins, Robert Comstock and Arlington Comstock, all of Bethesda.

The deer ran into the state game refuge and Lester Roberts, caretaker, was called in to help the men track the animal down and report the kill.

The first deer slain by an archer during the present season was reported by an 18-year-old Silver Spring youth last Sautrday. The season closes Saturday, November 14, for archers.

Thoerig warned last night that hunters using bow and arrows are not permitted to carry firearms in the woods with them during the bow and arrow season.

Carter Scores KO Over Savoie To Retain Title

Lightweight Champ Wins In 5th Round

MONTREAL, Nov. 11 (AP)—Sturdy Jimmy Carter wrecked another "home town boy" challenger for his lightweight title tonight when he knocked out Montreal's Armand Savoie in 59 seconds of the fifth round with one whistling right to the jaw.

Dropped flat on his back from the force of Carter's payoff wallop, the 23-year-old Savoie gamely tried to beat the count. He was able to scramble to his hands and knees as Referee Tom Sullivan counted nine and 10.

Both fighters were cut around the left eye in the fourth round when Carter started to press his attack after letting Savoie take the lead in the early rounds.

Bombing to the body with both hands, the 29-year-old champ from New York set up the knockout. As Carter lunged to the attack with the crushing right hand, Savoie's shiny title dream was ended.

It was the third successful defense this year for Carter, a 3 to 1 favorite, who also stopped Tommy Collins and George Araujo earlier.

The same three judges who gave Savoie a non-title split decision over the champ last February officiated tonight. They weren't needed. Carter carried his own judges in his right fist.

A crowd estimated at 10,000 turned out at the Montreal Forum for the city's first championship bout since 1931.

ELKINS, W. Va., Nov. 11—Delton Mullennax's plunge for the tying extra point in the final minute of play failed and Elkins' High's Tigers edged the Parsons Panthers here today by a 26-25 score in the final 1953 football game for both teams.

The triumph gave Coach Frank Wimer's eleven a .500 record with five wins and as many losses while Bob Sullivan's visiting Panthers closed a 3-6 campaign.

The game was a see-saw scorefest with first one and then the other of the two teams leading before Elkins pushed over two fourth period touchdowns to win. Parsons' final six-pointer was scored with about a minute to play but the point try missed and Elkins ran time out to win.

The two elevens combined to rush and pass the ball almost 600 yards in the game. Parsons scored first when Delton Mullennax raced around right end for 20 yards and the score. The point try missed.

The Tigers came right back with a 63-yard drive, climaxed by Weese's four-yard plunge for the score. Weese passed to Robinson for the point and the home team led 7-6 at the quarter.

A 40-yard pass from Delton Mullennax to Terry Fairbanks put Parsons in front once more as the scoring play ended a 75-yard Panther advance. Late in the second stanza Weese picked up a Parsons fumble and raced 40 yards for an Elkins score and it was 13-12 Tigers at halftime.

The Panthers once more forged ahead when Jim Bowley raced 15 yards for a third quarter tally and Delton Mullennax then passed to Bowley for the point and it was 19-13 Parsons.

The two fourth period Elkins scores came on a 30-yard pass from Weese to Wright in the end zone and a Weese to Robinson aerial for 40 and the six-pointer. Weese's plunge for the extra point following the fourth touchdown proved the deciding point.

A 65-yard pass from D. Mullennax to Fairbanks, caught on the 30 and run over, in the final minute gave Parsons its last score. The lineups:

Harold Hudson Of LaSalle Is Named Back Of The Week

Top Scorer Stars Against Ridgeley

Harold Hudson, 16-year-old junior became LaSalle High's third backfield ace to be chosen Back of the Week by the Knights of Columbus selection committee.

The eighth back selected this year in 10 weeks Hudson was picked for his stellar play against the Ridgeley Blackhawks last Thursday when LaSalle chalked up its sixth triumph 24-0.

Hudson, who is currently the leading scorer in the city with 48 points, started the Explorers on their way to victory with a 19-yard romp for the first touchdown in the opening moments of the game. He later was instrumental in setting up another LaSalle score with his hard running and played an excellent defensive game.

His play got him the call over teammate Bobby Christ who picked up 167 yards against Ridgeley and Halfback Eddie Joyce of Allegany who was outstanding in the Campers' win over Elkins Saturday.

The LaSalle fullback joins Christ and Denny Shuck of the Explorers as well as Bib Kirtley and Joyce of Allegany; and Stanley Teets, Earl Grove and Bob Andrews of Fort Hill for the selections. Both Kirtley and Teets have received the honor twice this season.

In pacing the city scorers Hudson has collected 48 points, following by Christ with 42 and Dick Rank of Allegany with 41 in the tight battle for leading honors. Christ is defending champion having copped the title last year.

All three will play again on Thanksgiving Day when LaSalle visits Beall at Frostburg and Allegany and Fort Hill clash in the Turkey Day classic at the local stadium.

Lattner Named Back Of Week

Standout Play Makes Irish No. 1 Team

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 11 (AP)—It becomes more and more evident that without halfback Johnny Lattner, today named the Associated Press Back of the Week, Notre Dame wouldn't be the nation's No. 1 college football team.

Lattner won the weekly honor by his stirring performance in Notre Dame's 28-20 victory over Penn last Saturday. After Penn scored first, rugged Johnny took the ensuing kickoff and ran 92 yards for a touchdown.

Then he raced 32 yards on a punt return and stole a pass from two Penn defenders to set up another Irish touchdown. Further warming up, Lattner streaked 56 yards with another kickoff to shove Notre Dame towards its third touchdown.

But perhaps his most important play came on defense. With Penn in hot pursuit of a fourth touchdown, Lattner wrested a goal line Penn pass from Quaker Bob Felver's hands.

That has been Lattner's forte throughout the season. When the going gets tough for the Irish, Johnny moves into action.

Besides Lattner, Stanford's Bob Garrett, Jimmy Wade of Tennessee, Larry Grigg of Oklahoma and Bobby Cavazos of Texas Tech were mentioned prominently as Back of the Week candidates.

Penn Tackle Gets AP Lineman Nod

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (AP)—Big Jack Shanafelt, University of Pennsylvania tackle, was named The Associated Press Lineman of the Week today for his superb play against Notre Dame.

Big Jack led the Penn linemen in the torrid battle on Franklin Field that saw the Ivy Leaguers throw a fright into the unbeaten and untied Irish before losing 28-20.

There is a former member of the Chicago Black Hawks on every team in the National Hockey League.

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 11—Coach Ray Hull's Beall High Mountaineers scored their third straight victory here today by turning back the Moorefield Yellowjackets 20-7 in a game postponed from Saturday because of snow.

The triumph gave the Mounties a 3-4 record. It was the final game of the season for Coach Jonathan Paugh's Jackets who close with a 3-4-2 mark.

Two touchdowns in the second quarter gave the Mountaineers all they needed for the triumph although they added a third six-pointer in the last quarter. Henry Lloyd, hard-running fullback, scored twice for the visitors.

Bob Zinn tallied the opening touchdown for Beall on a 16-yard run through the center of the Jacket eleven. Mike Finn placekicked the extra point. A pass interception set up the score.

Late in the second period Lloyd climaxed a 48-yard Beall drive by plunging over from the one-foot line for the counter. Lloyd carried the ball on four straight carries to end the march. Tom Emmert passed to Pinkney Holmes for the point to make it 14-0 Beall at halftime.

Wes Shanholtzer sparked a 38-yard Jacket march shortly after the third period opened for Moorefield's only TD. End Richard Evans recovered a Beall fumble to pave the way for the drive. Moorefield marked up four first downs in the push with Allen Bea nracing over from the four. Bob Wilson kicked the point.

Beall added the clincher in the fourth period when Lloyd raced nine yards for the tally to climax a 63-yard advance. Lloyd sparked the drive with a 23-yard run. The lineups:

Beerman, Joyce AHS Co-Captains For Turkey Day

Bernie Beerman, all-city guard last season, and Halfback Eddie Joyce have been elected co-captains for Allegany's Campers in the annual Thanksgiving Day classic with Fort Hill November 26.

Two seniors are annually selected by vote of the Allegany eleven to lead the Campers in the closing fray against the Hilltoppers. Beerman, 190-pound senior has been playing both guard and tackle on the rugged Allegany line this year. Joyce, hard-driving halfback, weighs 135 pounds. Both are 17 years old.

Altogether 18 Allegany seniors will be playing their final game of the season in the Turkey Day football clash.

Bruce To Open 21-Game Cage Slate Dec. 3

Class B Champions Have 3 Regulars Back

WESTERNPORT, Nov. 11 — Coach Augie Eichhorn's Class B basketball champions at Bruce High School will open their 1953-54 cage season December 3 at Hyndman, Pa. The Bulldogs will play a 21-game slate.

Three regulars of last year's team which captured the Class B state title and won 21 games while losing 4 will return to form the nucleus of the present squad, Eichhorn said. They are Mike Nofsinger, guard, Center Dave Marple, and Forward Jim Cave. Six lettermen were lost through graduation including stellar guard Bobby Wilson.

Bruce will play home-and-home games with Hyndman, Fort Ashby, LaSalle, Oakland and Piedmont in addition to 10 Western Maryland Interscholastic League contests. An Alumni tilt December 29 will round out the schedule.

Bruce closed the season last year with five straight victories including triumphs over Middletown, 67-39, Elkton, 51-31, and Arundel, 59-51 in the state finals. Among the squad's wins was a 79-75 thriller from Allegany's Class A runnersup.

Eichhorn has called his first practice for the new year November 16 and expects a large turnout for initial drills. The schedule:

Dec. 3—Hyndman, away.
Dec. 11—Fort Ashby, home.
Dec. 15—LaSalle, away.
Dec. 17—Hyndman, home.

10-1 French Horse Takes Laurel Race

Record Crowd Sees Colt Win $50,000; Admiral Runs Last

LAUREL, Md., Nov. 11 (AP)—Worden, a French horse owned by a Pennsylvanian now living abroad, flashed into the lead with a bit more than an eighth of a mile to go to run away today with the colorful $65,000 Washington, D. C., International before a roaring record crowd of 31,100 at Laurel Park.

The invader from across the Atlantic, a 4-year-old chestnut son of Wild Risk-Sans Tares, owned by Ralph Beaver Strassburger, Norristown, Pa., Newspapers publisher, defeated nine other stars from six nations in the mile and one half classic.

Smirke Rides Winner

Cheeky Charlie Smirke, considered the top jockey in Europe, bided his time with the 15 to 1 shot, then sped down the infield grass course in a final burst that sent him under the wire a six length victor over Iceberg II, an American-owned horsebred in Chile.

Iceberg II defeated the Brookmeade Stable's Sunglow, an American contender, by three lengths, while another French horse, Paul Dubosc's Silnet, was in fourth place another half length away.

Robert Boucher's Wilwyn, the British horse who won the Laurel International last year, finished ninth, while the Charfran Stable's Crafty Admiral—the 2 to 1 favorite—finished 10th and last after leading in the early part of the race.

Worden, who collects a $50,000 purse for his brilliant victory was to have come here last year for the International running of the race. Last minute plane trouble developed, and Worden stayed home.

Closed Racing Career

But it was no mistake to come across the big drink this time, as Worden closed out his racing career with a blaze of glory. He goes to the stud in France.

Worden paid $33.80, $14.20, and $9.00, which may have surprised most of those in the jam-packed Armistice Day crowd. The French, British and Irish visitors have been saying Worden would win it all week—even before the big blizzard of last week which caused a postponement of the event originally scheduled for Saturday. Iceberg II paid $7.40 and $5.60, and Sunglow, $5.20. Last year Ruhe finished second, only American in the first four.

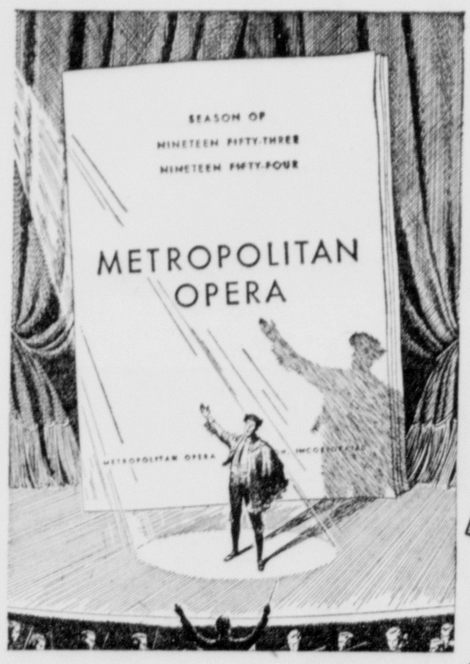

Today's race also marked the final appearance of Crafty Admiral, Silnet and Wilwyn, who will go to the stud in their countries.

Officials To Meet

The Western Maryland and Eastern West Virginia International Board of Approved Basketball Officials will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at Central YMCA. Bobby Cavanaugh of Fort Hill will preside and new rules will be discussed as the group organizes for the winter cage campaign.

Penn Announces 1954 Grid Card

Meet Duke, W & L And Notre Dame

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11 (AP)—The University of Pennsylvania today announced a 1954 football schedule that includes two Ivy League opponents—one more than this year's card.

The Red and Blue opens against Duke Sept. 25, meeting the Blue Devils for the first time since 1944 when Penn won 18-7.

Oct. 2 is an open date and Athletic Director Jerry Ford is hoping to fill this gap on the schedule that now includes only eight games. All are to be played here except the Oct. 9 contest against traditional foe, Princeton.

The Tigers last played Penn in 1951 with the Red and Blue eking out a 13-7 triumph.

A new 1954 foe will be Washington and Lee, carded for Oct. 16. Penn played W. & L. for the first and last time in 1948, winning 40-7.

The schedule finishes off with Navy on Oct. 23, Penn State Oct. 30, Notre Dame Nov. 6, Army Nov. 13, and Cornell Nov. 25, Thanksgiving Day.

Vanderbilt, California, Ohio State and Michigan, all on Penn's schedule this year, do not return in 1954.

Penn Announces 1954 Grid Card

Meet Duke, W & L And Notre Dame

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11 (AP)—The University of Pennsylvania today announced a 1954 football schedule that includes two Ivy League opponents—one more than this year's card.

The Red and Blue opens against Duke Sept. 25, meeting the Blue Devils for the first time since 1944 when Penn won 18-7.

Oct. 2 is an open date and Athletic Director Jerry Ford is hoping to fill this gap on the schedule that now includes only eight games. All are to be played here except the Oct. 9 contest against traditional foe, Princeton.

The Tigers last played Penn in 1951 with the Red and Blue eking out a 13-7 triumph.

A new 1954 foe will be Washington and Lee, carded for Oct. 16. Penn played W. & L. for the first and last time in 1948, winning 40-7.

The schedule finishes off with Navy on Oct. 23, Penn State Oct. 30, Notre Dame Nov. 6, Army Nov. 13, and Cornell Nov. 25, Thanksgiving Day.

Vanderbilt, California, Ohio State and Michigan, all on Penn's schedule this year, do not return in 1954.

Turpin To Explain His Training Methods

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP)—Randolph Turpin, British middleweight champion, today was ordered to appear before the British Boxing Board of Control Dec. 9 to explain the training methods he used before his losing world title fight against Bobo Olson.

Manager George Middleton and trainer Frank Algar, who accompanied Turpin to New York for the Oct. 22 fight, were ordered to appear with Turpin.

Ike Heads PGA

DETROIT, Nov. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower today had a new job—honorary chairman of the Professional Golfers Association.

The PGA, recognizing the president's strong interest in the game, voted him the office at its annual meeting yesterday.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 11—(INS)—The most "advance" purchase of a novel I can remember is Darryl Zanuck's buy of Anya Seton's new story "Katherine." It won't see print until the fall of '54!

Galley-proof readers must have tipped the 20th boss that a hot property was afoot because the price tag was well over six figures.

Richard Burton, fair-haired boy around 20th since "The Robe," most likely will inherit the lead in the story set in the 14th century.

When Zanuck returns from Paris, his first job will be assigning scriptwriters to the novel.

Bob Taylor seldom lights long enough in one place to give a party. But he borrowed Helen Ferguson's house last night and hosted a farewell before he and Eleanor Parker take off for Egypt for "Valley of the Kings."

It wasn't too much of a surprise that Barbara Stanwyck was the first guest to arrive. Barbara looked like a million in a white evening sweater wearing the diamond-gardenia earrings and diamond pin Bob gave her while they were married.

Eleanor Parker wore a bright lipstick red dress, very startling with her (new) red hair. Eleanor is very subdued. She took her divorce from Bert Friedlob very much to heart.

Among Bob's other guests having a high old time for themselves were his old pals Fred MacMurray and Lew Ayres.

Our girl LOP reports from New York:

"Willie Wyler landed in New York and '21' just about the same time I did. He was with Gordon MacRae, Joe Cotten, Mrs. Cotten and a group of friends who were eager to hear the latest from Europe.

"He said he left Mrs. Wyler and the new son and two daughters in France. They'll follow him shortly. As I told you, the first date he has is with Don Hartman to talk about 'Angels Cooking'.

"Ray Schindler, ace detective, had a birthday party and the whole of '21' sang 'Happy Birthday'.

"Ann Miller, who's having a whirl, dropped by the table to say hello. So did Benay Venuta.

"Walked right in on many old friends at a cocktail party given by Dorothy Gray and Harry Joe Brown. Dorothy borrowed her cousin's beautiful apartment for this special occasion.

"Some of the people went on to the opening of 'How To Marry A Millionaire' which had a gala premiere on Broadway with a whole block roped off.

"I've just been invited to an exhibition of Orry-Kelly's paintings on Monday, which I shall most certainly attend. I love Orry's pictures and own ten of them. Richard Kollmar, who is a relative of a girl friend of mine named Dorothy Kilgallen, is showing the paintings at the little studio at the Carlton House."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Gwenn O'Connor flew to New York to see Donald. She'd like to make up.

Wasn't Janie Wyman just great giving the news on Louella Parsons' radio show Tuesday.

Ron Randall and Amanda Blake got into such a hot battle at the famous last night she flew out before finishing her matzo ball soup.

Dallas wants to give a hand to Johnny Johnson, who MC'd the cerebral telethon from 11 at night until 3 the following afternoon.

Richard Basehart cables that reports of Valentina Cortesa's serious illness in Rome are exaggerated. Says his wife is well and working in De Sica's new picture.

When Charles P. Skouras, Jr., and Diane Mellos are married Nov. 25, the ceremony will be performed by the Right Reverend Athenagoras, bishop of the Greek Orthodox Church for 11 western states.

Joan Crawford and Scott Brady were a Sportsman's Lodge duet for dinner.

That long distance telephone call to Piper Laurie on the set at U-I was from David Schine, scion of the hotel fortune, telling her goodbye before he reports for duty at Fort Dix.

It's really getting steady with Ava Gardner and Peter Lawford. She went along on a busines date he had at the William Morris agency.

That all today. See you tomorrow!

WIFE PRESERVERS

Plaster of paris is good for patching plastered walls, but it may harden before the job is finished if you are not very quick. To prevent this, mix about one tablespoon of flour with every cup of plaster of paris.

In most industrial countries of Western civilization, approximately three fourths of the national income represents remuneration for personal effort; the remaining fourth goes to the owners of land and capital, says a recent report brought out by the Twentieth Century Fund.

Your emotions shade your speech and reveal your nature. Guard your outlook if you want to charm!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Do you always say what you mean—and always mean what you say? Any failure in so doing is sure to blur your personality and do it both injustice and damage.

Socrates said, "Speak that I may see thee." The moment we hear another's words, we get a strong impression of him or her. When you speak falsely, either through inability to express yourself or in an effort to hide your real thoughts or emotions you distort your personality.

Silence Preferred

That is not to say that you must always "speak your mind." Far from it—but do not allow words to slip carelessly off the end of the tongue. Every word needs to be routed thoughtfully through the mind. If your speech abuses others, it is sure to abuse your best self as well. But the unspoken intemperate word can hurt neither others nor yourself. At such moments it is well to remember that nothing falls on the ear that is more wonderful than silence.

If the words you speak are too often unfair to yourself, the probabilities are that you have fallen into an unhappy frame of mind. In that event, you cannot have the warmest and friendliest of feelings toward others. A resentful or critical cast is apt to shade your words and characterize your conversation.

The answer, of course, lies in changing your emotional approach. Get out into the world—and get happy again. Seek new hobbies, new friends, new experiences. Join a club. Go to church. Take a study course either by correspondence or in night classes. Welcome the new experiences, the new ideas and new contacts with an uncritical attitude. If you work to bring new interests into your life, you will be successful. If you merely wait for new interests to enter your life, you will continue to be unhappy.

Welcome Thoughts

When you are happy and living a well-integrated life you can afford to speak impulsively. You will find that your words are less apt to be damaging because you will not be tempted to flare out with critical, caustic comment. Praise rather than censure will more easily flow through your conversation, inspired by your love of life and people and your enthusiasm for your daily pursuits.

Keeping your thoughts beamed outward on the world with warm, friendly, welcoming and appreciative attitudes is a charm potion to be taken daily!

Tomorrow: Newest coiffure notes.

YOUR POSTURE

To achieve grace of the highest degree—to make yours the posture ideal—to improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes as well, read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE." For a copy write to Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to help cover cost.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Plaster of paris is good for patching plastered walls, but it may harden before the job is finished if you are not very quick. To prevent this, mix about one tablespoon of flour with every cup of plaster of paris.

In most industrial countries of Western civilization, approximately three fourths of the national income represents remuneration for personal effort; the remaining fourth goes to the owners of land and capital, says a recent report brought out by the Twentieth Century Fund.

Your emotions shade your speech and reveal your nature. Guard your outlook if you want to charm!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Do you always say what you mean—and always mean what you say? Any failure in so doing is sure to blur your personality and do it both injustice and damage.

Socrates said, "Speak that I may see thee." The moment we hear another's words, we get a strong impression of him or her. When you speak falsely, either through inability to express yourself or in an effort to hide your real thoughts or emotions you distort your personality.

Silence Preferred

That is not to say that you must always "speak your mind." Far from it—but do not allow words to slip carelessly off the end of the tongue. Every word needs to be routed thoughtfully through the mind. If your speech abuses others, it is sure to abuse your best self as well. But the unspoken intemperate word can hurt neither others nor yourself. At such moments it is well to remember that nothing falls on the ear that is more wonderful than silence.

If the words you speak are too often unfair to yourself, the probabilities are that you have fallen into an unhappy frame of mind. In that event, you cannot have the warmest and friendliest of feelings toward others. A resentful or critical cast is apt to shade your words and characterize your conversation.

The answer, of course, lies in changing your emotional approach. Get out into the world—and get happy again. Seek new hobbies, new friends, new experiences. Join a club. Go to church. Take a study course either by correspondence or in night classes. Welcome the new experiences, the new ideas and new contacts with an uncritical attitude. If you work to bring new interests into your life, you will be successful. If you merely wait for new interests to enter your life, you will continue to be unhappy.

Welcome Thoughts

When you are happy and living a well-integrated life you can afford to speak impulsively. You will find that your words are less apt to be damaging because you will not be tempted to flare out with critical, caustic comment. Praise rather than censure will more easily flow through your conversation, inspired by your love of life and people and your enthusiasm for your daily pursuits.

Keeping your thoughts beamed outward on the world with warm, friendly, welcoming and appreciative attitudes is a charm potion to be taken daily!

Tomorrow: Newest coiffure notes.

YOUR POSTURE

To achieve grace of the highest degree—to make yours the posture ideal—to improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes as well, read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE." For a copy write to Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to help cover cost.

United Organizations Need Discussed At Westernport

WESTERNPORT—Plans for carrying on the work of the United Organizations were discussed at a meeting Monday evening at the Westernport Library.

Wayne Ritchie, chairman of the group organized a year ago, explained to the assemblage the work it had done and appointed out how badly some persons needed aid.

Seventy food baskets were distributed last year at Christmas time. Other baskets, clothing and toys were distributed to 200 persons.

A considerable amount of clothing and furniture is stored in the basement of the office building of Dr. P. E. Berry. It is hard to get to this room as steps are needed which possibly could be erected.

The need of another room to store the clothing, furniture and toys in was cited. The Boy Scouts collected them last year, repaired and repainted them.

Vernon A. Staggers, principal of Piedmont High School and Wilbur Cathers, manager Piedmont office of Potomac Edison Company were appointed a committee to try and find a type of room that is needed.

After a room is secured a drive to collect usable clothing and furniture will be conducted.

Andy Grove stated that they could have the use of his pick-up truck at any time.

Letters to all of the churches and organizations of the Tri-Towns will be sent asking their cooperation as the group feels this should be a yearly project as assistance is needed other times in the year as well as Christmas time.

Another meeting will be held on November 30.

United Organizations Need Discussed At Westernport

WESTERNPORT—Plans for carrying on the work of the United Organizations were discussed at a meeting Monday evening at the Westernport Library.

Wayne Ritchie, chairman of the group organized a year ago, explained to the assemblage the work it had done and appointed out how badly some persons needed aid.

Seventy food baskets were distributed last year at Christmas time. Other baskets, clothing and toys were distributed to 200 persons.

A considerable amount of clothing and furniture is stored in the basement of the office building of Dr. P. E. Berry. It is hard to get to this room as steps are needed which possibly could be erected.

The need of another room to store the clothing, furniture and toys in was cited. The Boy Scouts collected them last year, repaired and repainted them.

Vernon A. Staggers, principal of Piedmont High School and Wilbur Cathers, manager Piedmont office of Potomac Edison Company were appointed a committee to try and find a type of room that is needed.

After a room is secured a drive to collect usable clothing and furniture will be conducted.

Andy Grove stated that they could have the use of his pick-up truck at any time.

Letters to all of the churches and organizations of the Tri-Towns will be sent asking their cooperation as the group feels this should be a yearly project as assistance is needed other times in the year as well as Christmas time.

Another meeting will be held on November 30.

Church To Hold Prayer School

FROSTBURG — The School of Prayer to be held at St. John's Episcopal Church will begin at 7:30 p. m. on the evening of November 18. Other sessions of the school will be held on November 19, 20 and 22, all at 7:30 p. m.

The school is set up on four aspects of prayer, with one evening being devoted to each aspect. The key word is ACTS. The subjects each evening are: A-Adoration: worship and praise to the Father; C-Communion: growth in relationship through the Son; T-Thanksgiving: expression of holiness by the Holy Spirit; S-Supplication: redemption living in the Church.

A priest of the Order of the Holy Cross, Father Adams will conduct the school. The Order of the Holy Cross is a religious order for men of the Episcopal Church.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

C H B T C L G C L K T T V H N N K D G

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

W B N N L G S T H R G E H S N L G U E
C H B T C L G C L K T T V H N N K D G
K R K F N H C L K I G B C — C R U V W B E V G.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote—IS THERE NO BALM IN GILEAD; IS THERE NO PHYSICIAN THERE?—JEREMIAH.

New Policy Protested

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Nov. 11 (AP)—Magistrate Paul Ottinger today protested a new city policy which puts the police force under workmen's compensation and ends the custom of paying officers idled by injuries sustained in the line of duty their full wages.

In a letter to the mayor and council and to Police Commissioner E. S. Guth, Ott said the change "has caused a very serious drop in the morale of the department."

In Memoriam

In loving remembrance of our dear son and brother, Cpl. Harry R. Keller, who died November 11, 1945.
Our partings are but for a while
And not forevermore.
For we will meet the one we love
Who has gone before.
MOTHER, BROTHERS and SISTERS

In memory of our beloved mother, Mrs. Irene G. King, who departed this life 5 years ago, November 12, 1948.
We never shall forget you Mother,
While in this world we stay.
We hope that we shall meet again
When God calls us away.
Children — Wilma, Wilburn and Billy.

In Memoriam

In loving remembrance of our dear son and brother, Cpl. Harry R. Keller, who died November 11, 1945.
Our partings are but for a while
And not forevermore.
For we will meet the one we love
Who has gone before.
MOTHER, BROTHERS and SISTERS

In memory of our beloved mother, Mrs. Irene G. King, who departed this life 3 years ago, November 12, 1948.
We never shall forget you Mother,
While in this world we stay.
We hope that we shall meet again
When God calls us away.
Children — Wilma, Wilburn and Billy.

TIME FOR A REDOUBLE

ABILITY to depend completely on your partner having the strength indicated by his bids—there you have one of the most valuable foundations for a redouble after an opponent has had the temerity to double your conservatively-reached contract. You may know then that an extra batch of nice points is awaiting you, if your appraisal of the side's strength indicates the contract should be makeable.

North's redouble was based on the most solid kind of counting. He and his partner were using the Vanderbilt system, in which an opening of 1-Club shows possession of at least three quick tricks, plus, and the 1-Diamond response denies two. By this method, a second round suit bid of two by South advertises a hand about as strong in high cards as most players require for a game-strength opening of two. So North felt sure of game as soon as he heard the 2-Spades. His correct next bid was the 3-Clubs he called, in order to see what would be South's next bid. When it was hearts, North was ready for the No Trump game, since he had both minors in good shape. The sound of East's double accordingly was music to his ears and he redoubled without a qualm.

North let the heart J have the first trick, won the heart 3 with the K, led the spade 3 to the 10 and Q and then took the diamond 7 return with the A. Next came the spade A, K, 8 and 6, on which West discarded a heart and a diamond, then the heart A, a finesse of the diamond 10, the diamond K felling the Q and the diamond J to give him ten tricks, whereupon he gladly conceded a club on the final trick.

You know how to score. So just figure out how many extra points came to North for the confidence that enabled him to redouble.

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

TIME FOR A REDOUBLE

ABILITY to depend completely on your partner having the strength indicated by his bids—there you have one of the most valuable foundations for a redouble after an opponent has had the temerity to double your conservatively-reached contract. You may know then that an extra batch of nice points is awaiting you, if your appraisal of the side's strength indicates the contract should be makeable.

	♠ 10 2 ♥ 5 ♦ K J 10 8 ♣ Q J 9 8 7 6
♠ J 7 4 ♥ Q 10 9 8 7 ♦ Q 9 6 4 ♣ 10	N W E S	♠ Q 9 5 ♥ J 3 ♦ 7 5 3 ♣ A K 5 4 2

Pass	3 NT	Dbl.	Pass

North's redouble was based on the most solid kind of counting. He and his partner were using the Vanderbilt system, in which an opening of 1-Club shows possession of at least three quick tricks, plus, and the 1-Diamond response denies two. By this method, a second round suit bid of two by South advertises a hand about as strong in high cards as most players require for a game-strength opening of two. So North felt sure of game as soon as he heard the 2-Spades. His correct next bid was the 3-Clubs he called, in order to see what would be South's next bid. When it was hearts, North was ready for the No Trump game, since he had both minors in good shape. The sound of East's double accordingly was music to his ears and he redoubled without a qualm.

North let the heart J have the first trick, won the heart 3 with the K, led the spade 3 to the 10 and Q and then took the diamond 7 return with the A. Next came the spade A, K, 8 and 6, on which West discarded a heart and a diamond, then the heart A, a finesse of the diamond 10, the diamond K felling the Q and the diamond J to give him ten tricks, whereupon he gladly conceded a club on the final trick.

You know how to score. So just figure out how many extra points came to North for the confidence that enabled him to redouble.

These 35-year members of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion were honored last night at an Armistice Day dinner at the post home, at which state and local Legion officers paid tribute to veterans, living and dead, of America's wars. In the photo are (seated, left to right) former Judge William C. Walsh, Lt. Col. Harry E. Flook Sr., J. Edward Walter, commander of the Department of Maryland American Legion; Garland Powell, first commander of Fort Cumberland Post; Thomas F. Conlon, Russell C. Paupe and Harry C. Aaron. In the second row (same order) are J. Thomas Long, Humphrey E. Johnson, Jesse E. Hopcraft, Allen T. Hirsch, Claude Deal, James G. Magruder, Lloyd L. Bucy and John J. Biggs.

Shrine Color Guard

Ali Ghan Shrine's color guard and flag unit are shown in one of their rare public appearances as they marched in the seven-division Armistice Day parade last night in downtown Cumberland. The colorful unit, dressed in Arabic uniforms, were followed in the march by the Shrine's drum and bugle corps and the Shrine patrol. Members of the patrol, dressed in black, provided some snappy drill routines during the review. The parade, watched by a large crowd despite chilly weather, climaxed a number of local events in observing the 35th anniversary of the ending of World War I.

Civil Defense Siren System To Be Tested

Want Operation, "Dead Spot" Check

Civil Defense authorities are planning to conduct a complete test of Cumberland's disaster warning system soon.

Arthur B. Gibson, Civil Defense coordinator for the city, said the tests will be announced so citizens of all sections of the city will be able to report on the results.

Allegany County, including Cumberland, got good marks on September 22 when the state-wide alert, "Operation Checkup" was held.

The warning was given here by four sirens. These included large sirens at Third and Seymour Streets and at Fayette Street and Plum Alley, and smaller devices located at Camden Avenue and Fairmont Avenue.

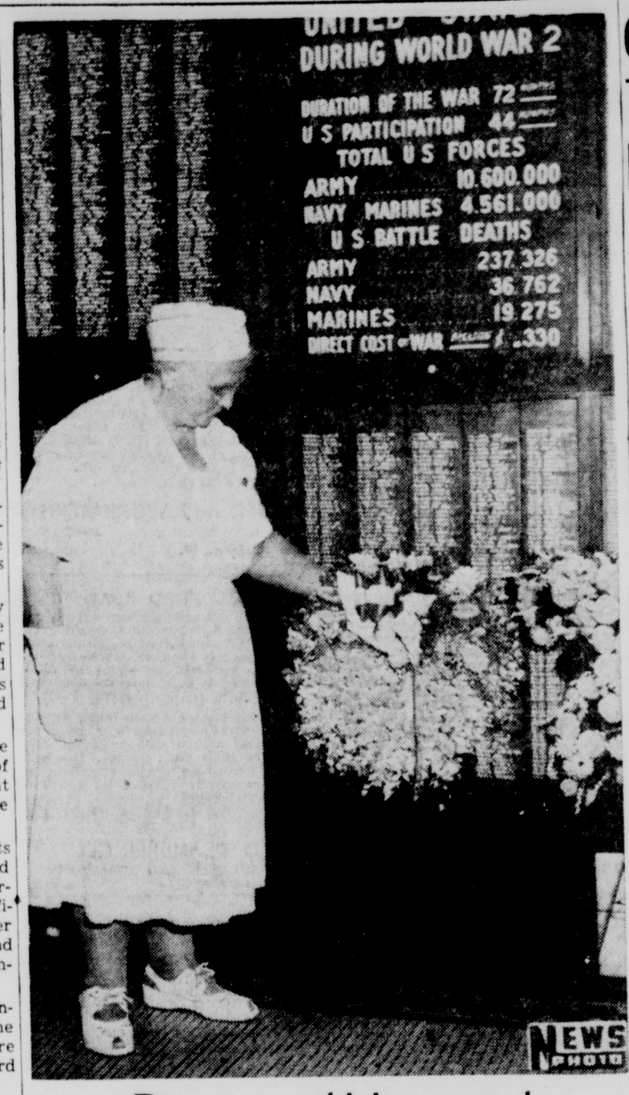

Gibson said the check will be made to test both the operation of the sirens and to make sure that there are no "dead spots" in the city.

In "Operation Checkup," blasts from the big siren at Seymour and Third was heard at the Cumberland Municipal Airport, but officials believe the sound passed over the Humbird Street section and several other areas of South Cumberland.

The test will also provide another opportunity to check on the controls of the sirens, which are set off from a central control board at Central Fire Station.

The general inadequacy of the siren system in Maryland was one of lessons learned during the state alert in September.

Most counties included "more sirens needed" in their reports of the alert.

Deceased Honored

Servicemen, who paid the supreme sacrifice in combat with U. S. fighting forces, were honored yesterday during an Armistice Day memorial service at the City Hall rotunda. Mrs. Johanna Weimer, of the Tri-State Chapter of Gold Star Mothers' is shown placing a wreath beside the Honor Roll. Guest speaker was Mayor Roy W. Eves. Thomas B. Finan, was master of ceremonies.

City Is Anxious To Get Street Project Started

Federal Approval Is Awaited Here

City officials say they are anxious to see the Frederick Street improvement project started and that work can get underway soon after plans are approved by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the only holdup at present is the approval of plans by federal authorities, since the General Assembly last spring authorized a $350,000 traffic improvement bond issue, and the city has instituted action to sell the bonds.

The sale of the bond issue has been delayed both because the money is not yet needed and to await a more favorable bond market.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, said city officials feel they could get a better deal on the project if bids were let this fall.

The storm sewer system for the new street would be built this winter, she said.

The completion of the federal aid project would provide another step in the city's drive to improve internal traffic conditions by making Frederick Street, from Mechanic Street, a one-way street northbound, and Bedford Street the one-way southbound section of Route 220 to the center of the city.

A number of other traffic conditions are to be remedied by funds from the bond issue, but city officials have held off on these until they see how much money is left after Frederick Street is improved.

These jobs include the extension of North George Street to Bedford Street and widening of Franklin, South Mechanic and Orchard Streets.

'Old Timers' Honored By Legion Post

A little group of "old timers" — veterans of World War I who helped found the local American Legion post 35 years ago — were honored last night by men who served in two of America's more recent wars.

The occasion was a dinner given by Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, for its 20 living charter members. Five of the members couldn't make it because of illness or business commitments.

The other 15 heard their contributions to the Legion's four-point program of Americanism, rehabilitation, child welfare and national defense praised by J. Edward Walter, state commander of the Legion.

J. Garland Powell, first commander of Fort Cumberland Post, spoke for the "old timers."

Powell, who now lives in Florida, was first national Americanism chairman of the Legion, and held that office at the time the National Flag Code sponsored by the Legion was adopted in the 1920s.

He is now a member of the board which administers the Legion's $7 million endowment fund for rehabilitation and child welfare work. He came from Florida especially to attend the dinner.

Thomas B. Finan, a past commander of Fort Cumberland Post, was toastmaster.

Other guests attending were Harry C. Aaron, John J. Biggs, Lloyd L. Bucy, Thomas F. Conlon Sr., Claude L. Deal, Lt. Col. Harry E. Flook Sr., Dr. Winter R. Frantz, Allen T. Hirsch, Jesse E. Hopcraft, Humphrey E. Johnston, J. Thomas Long, James G. Magruder, Russell C. Paupe and former Judge William C. Walsh.

Other 35-year members, who were unable to attend, are Gerald E. Allnoch of Narrows, Va., and Harry G. Beneman, Judge George Henderson, Charles A. Piper and J. Frederick Walton, all of Cumberland.

War Dead Honored In Armistice Day Service

City Pays Tribute To Its Heroes

An Armistice Day Memorial Service held yesterday morning in the rotunda of City Hall recalled the memory of those who died in the defense of their country.

Mayor Roy W. Eves in a talk before some 150 persons gathered for the service said, "At this hour on this day, it seems but yesterday that an Armistice was declared, ending a war which we thought would end all wars—instead we had to give it a serial number and call it World War I.

"We are here today to honor those who so valiantly fought in that war, many of whom so freely gave their all. Those boys we are honoring today fought in a war that was realistic, bitter, relentless, without glamor, requiring courage and fortitude of a high order."

Wreath Placed At Honor Roll

In referring to mothers who lost sons in battle, Mayor Eves remarked, "Theirs is the awful task of waiting and wondering. Theirs is the greatest grief, the longest memories, the deepest love and so it is most, fitting that Mrs. Johanna Weimer of the Tri-State

Many View Revue In Chilly Weather

An enthusiastic crowd braved chilly weather last night and lined Cumberland's downtown streets to view the seven-division Armistice Day parade, climaxing events observing the 35th anniversary of the ending of World War I.

The colorful review got underway with two blasts from the cannon of Voiture 164, Forty and Eight Artillery Unit. Members of the unit, riding in a Jeep, continued their periodical blasts throughout the parade route.

The scarlet dress of music sounders identified Fort Hill High School Band, led by the white and red silhouettes of baton swinging majorettes. Following the musical unit were the units of the Army Reserve, all war veterans, dressed in the olive uniforms, decked with unit patches.

Progress Noted On Repairs To Airport Hangars

New Joists, Doors Will Be Installed

Good progress is being made on the repair of hangars at the Cumberland Municipal Airport, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

New 40 foot steel bar joists have already been installed on four of the 15 hangars by the airport maintenance crew headed by Charles F. Heller, superintendent.

The bar joists are being installed to replace wooden trusses which are sagging as much as 11 inches on several of the hangars.

Mayor Eves said it was necessary last winter to prop up several hangars during heavy snows.

The city had planned to install only about half of the bar joists this year and do the rest during the next fiscal year. But the mayor said efforts will be made to complete the work now in order to protect the city's investment in the buildings.

Heller and his crew have been removing wooden piers which hold the door trusses and replacing the supports with concrete block columns.

Doors of the hangars must also be replaced.

The original doors were of asbestos board which has cracked under the strain of the sagging trusses.

New doors of waterproof plywood are being prepared by a local lumber firm.

Civil Defense Siren System To Be Tested

Want Operation, "Dead Spot" Check

Civil Defense authorities are planning to conduct a complete test of Cumberland's disaster warning system soon.

Arthur B. Gibson, Civil Defense coordinator for the city, said the tests will be announced so citizens of all sections of the city will be able to report on the results.

Allegany County, including Cumberland, got good marks on September 22 when the state-wide alert, "Operation Checkup" was held.

The warning was given here by four sirens. These included large sirens at Third and Seymour Streets and at Fayette Street and Plum Alley, and smaller devices located at Camden Avenue and Fairmont Avenue.

Gibson said the check will be made to test both the operation of the sirens and to make sure that there are no "dead spots" in the city.

In "Operation Checkup," blasts from the big siren at Seymour and Third was heard at the Cumberland Municipal Airport, but officials believe the sound passed over the Humbird Street section and several other areas of South Cumberland.

The test will also provide another opportunity to check on the controls of the sirens, which are set off from a central control board at Central Fire Station.

The general inadequacy of the siren system in Maryland was one of lessons learned during the state alert in September.

Most counties included "more sirens needed" in their reports of the alert.

David Davis, Frostburg mechanic, will aid in the inspections of the vehicles. Contractors and operators are asked to have equipment at the appointed inspection site at the hour indicated.

War Dead Honored In Armistice Day Service

City Pays Tribute To Its Heroes

An Armistice Day Memorial Service held yesterday morning in the rotunda of City Hall recalled the memory of those who died in the defense of their country.

Mayor Roy W. Eves in a talk before some 150 persons gathered for the service said, "At this hour on this day, it seems but yesterday that an Armistice was declared, ending a war which we thought would end all wars—instead we had to give it a serial number and call it World War I.

"We are here today to honor those who so valiantly fought in that war, many of whom so freely gave their all. Those boys we are honoring today fought in a war that was realistic, bitter, relentless, without glamor, requiring courage and fortitude of a high order."

Wreath Placed At Honor Roll

In referring to mothers who lost sons in battle, Mayor Eves remarked, "Theirs is the awful task of waiting and wondering. Theirs is the greatest grief, the longest memories, the deepest love and so it is most, fitting that Mrs. Johanna Weimer of the Tri-State

City Is Anxious To Get Street Project Started

Federal Approval Is Awaited Here

City officials say they are anxious to see the Frederick Street improvement project started and that work can get underway soon after plans are approved by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the only holdup at present is the approval of plans by federal authorities, since the General Assembly last spring authorized a $350,000 traffic improvement bond issue, and the city has instituted action to sell the bonds.

The sale of the bond issue has been delayed both because the money is not yet needed and to await a more favorable bond market.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, said city officials feel they could get a better deal on the project if bids were let this fall.

The storm sewer system for the new street would be built this winter, she said.

The completion of the federal aid project would provide another step in the city's drive to improve internal traffic conditions by making Frederick Street, from Mechanic Street, a one-way street northbound, and Bedford Street the one-way southbound section of Route 220 to the center of the city.

A number of other traffic conditions are to be remedied by funds from the bond issue, but city officials have held off on these until they see how much money is left after Frederick Street is improved.

These jobs include the extension of North George Street to Bedford Street and widening of Franklin, South Mechanic and Orchard Streets.

Washington Firm Low Bidder On Highway Work

The low bidder on the construction of a section of dual highway along Baltimore National Pike (U. S. Route 40, Baltimore to Frederick), at bids opened by the State Roads Commission, was Taylor and Keebler of Washington, D. C. in the amount of $721,552.25.

This project is the next to last contract to be awarded to complete the dual highway from Baltimore to the Frederick City limits. It involves approximately 2½ miles beginning west of Plane No. 4 and extends westerly to New Market. The contract calls for grading, drainage and surfacing.

At the same time bids were opened for the resurfacing of the section of Route 3 in Charles County from Newburg to Tomkinsville, for a distance of about 6 miles. Low bidder on this job was A. H. Smith of Branchville, Md. in the amount of $127,742.00.

In Prince George's County, Wilmoth Paving Company of Washington, D. C. with a bid of $628,785.60, was low bidder on a project including relocation of a section of River Road from Creston Street to Inwood Street including the following principal and side roadways: (1) Dual lane highway from Creston Street to Inwood Street. (2) Dual lane highway local service road. (3) Single lane connections to Baltimore-Washington Parkway and Creston Street.

The total distance is just under one mile.
